Railmen Get Further 3-Cent Hourly Boost

Forty-Hour Week Is Also Approved

OTTAWA, Dec. 19.—(CP)—Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock, government arbitrator i n the railway wage dispute, today awarded a further three cents an hour increase to most of the rail workers who went on strike last August.

The arbitrator also decided that the five-day 40-hour work-week with pay unreduced from the present 48 hours will go into effect June 1 next.

The award gives about 122,000 employes a total increase of seven cents an hour.

They received four cents through the federal legislation that ended the nine-day strike. The four-cent increase went into effect last Sept. 1 and the new boost is retroactive to that date.

The effective date for the five-day 40-hour week is the date sought by the unions in their last negotiations with the companies last summer.

CLAIM REJECTED

While the unions gained these two major points, the arbitrator rejected their claim that a group of about 2,700 employes in the railways' hotel and water transport departments be given the same treatment as the larger group.

The smaller group received the statutory four-cent increase Sept. 1 and Mr. Justice Kellock gave them no more than that.

He ordered a one-year contract for the hotel and water transport employes and two-year contracts for the others, who consist of non-operating employes—that is, those who do not actually operate the trains.

The railways have estimated the cost of implementing the 40-hour week and the seven-cent increase would be $110,000,000 a year on the assumption they would be passed on to their employes generally. Cutting out the hotel and water transport employes would still leave this more than $100,000,000.

The railways have indicated they will immediately seek freight rate increases as the result of the additional expenditure.

The arbitrator, a supreme court justice who was appointed in October to write final terms of settlement under the August legislation, did not deal with a demand for the check-off of union dues made by two of 15 unions in the dispute.

This had been sought by the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employes (CCL) and the Brotherhood of Express Employes (CCL) which have a total of 34,000 members and were the only two affected.

EVACUATOR SEEN LIFESAVER

BIG SLIDE to safety is taken by city fireman as new evacuator is tested at Civic Block before commissioners, aldermen. Heavy canvas chute is 85 feet long, hooks on to aerial ladder and is run up side of building as ladder goes up. Fire Chief W. H. Ferguson hopes city will buy evacuator after seeing demonstration. He believes it would be means of saving lives especially in case of a hospital fire where sick persons could not be brought down ladder. Some Civic Block employes "tested" equipment yesterday along with firemen from No. 2 and 6 stations.

Eisenhower Named West Army Chief

Will Lead Combined Forces Of Atlantic Pact Nations

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Dec. 19.—(AP)—The 12 Atlantic alliance nations announced today Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will begin early in 1951 to organize an international army to keep the peace in Europe.

A communique issued at the end of a two-day conference said the Atlantic Pact chiefs also agreed on plans for German participation in "an integrated force under a centralized command."

In Washington, President Truman said additional American armed forces will be sent to Europe as soon as possible to join the combined forces under Gen. Eisenhower's command. Truman made the announcement at a press conference shortly after naming Eisenhower as supreme commander of the Integrated European defence force.

The 12 nations including Canada earlier had approved the appointment of Eisenhower as the supreme commander for the international force.

The man who led the western allied forces to victory in the Second World War was named by President Truman at the request of the foreign and defence ministers of the 12 Pact members, now meeting here to organize the force.

Along with the formal approval of Eisenhower, who had been suggested as the leader by practically everyone connected with the formation of Europe's defences, the Pact members met today to approve finally a series of other decisions creating the new international army, to include German ground and air units.

The program, adopted yesterday in defiance against threats from Russia that rearming Germany would violate existing treaties, calls for an international force of 65 to 80 divisions, plus air and sea arms. It aims at a total force of 1,000,000 men by the end of 1953.

Under the plan, Western Germany again will be allowed her own air force.

The program provides also that the West German Republic will contribute some 25 combat units of 6,000 ground troops each to this Western bulwark against Soviet aggression in Europe.

GIVEN CONCESSIONS

In return, the Bonn government will be given political and economic concessions by the occupying powers—though no full independence immediately.

The informants would not disclose the precise size of the tactical air force envisaged for the Germans, but they made it clear that it will be limited.

Cherrington Raps Award In Dispute

A strong charge of discrimination represented the first reaction in Edmonton today to the arbitrator's award in the railway unions' wage dispute.

Joseph Cherrigton, a member of the Edmonton strike committee, centred his comment on rejection of the 40-hour week and additional three-cent hourly pay boost for the railways' hotel and restaurant employes.

Said Cherrigton : "This is nothing but discrimination against the people who are most entitled to the shorter hours and extra pay."

PRESSURE CHARGED

He charged "employer groups" exerted sufficient pressure to avoid what they feared would be the "far-reaching effects" of such concessions to the railways' hotel workers.

Cherrington said the cafe and hotel employes were the lowest-paid people in Canada and a "lot of ill-feeling" would result from the arbitrator's award.

He said the larger railway unions "may have to take action across Canada to help these people." He stressed he was n-o-t favoring another strike.

Snow Seen, Better Get Out Skis

Better get those skis out and wax 'em today.

The weatherman is promising us snow tomorrow, caused by a Pacific weather disturbance moving over British Columbia into Alberta.

Intermittent snow will begin falling early tomorrow morning continuing until evening, and according to the chaps in the weather station, this may be Edmonton's last chance for a snowfall until Christmas.

Possibility of any more snow falling in the city before Christmas is most unlikely, they said. Heavy fog will continue all day and through the night.

LOWER THAN USUAL

As for temperatures tomorrow, they'll be about five degrees lower than usual—about 15 above, because of a cold air mass hanging over the city. Clear skies and light winds will also prevail.

Today the mercury is expected to hit the 20 mark, the forecast high, then drop off five above tonight for an overnight low reading.

Koreds Under Heavy Blast By Allied Air, Ground Force

By Olen Clements

TOKYO, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Allied naval, air and ground forces slammed tons of steel today at Chinese and Korean Communists pressing down on the slim Hungnam beachhead in northeast Korea.

The allies slowly were giving ground with their backs to the sea.

A delayed-field dispatch said the United States Air Force abandoned Yonpo airfield, Hungnam's major airport, Sunday. The dispatch had been withheld for security reasons. Army engineers destroyed supplies and disabled aircraft that had to be left.

A U.S. 10th Corps intelligence officer said advance combat elements of three wholly-reorganized Red Korean divisions had replaced the Chinese Communists on the right flank of the beachhead. He estimated the force at 7,000 to 8,000 men.

CAN'T GET STARTED

"Prisoners say they are trying to hit us in force but every time the officers get men massed for an attack our artillery scatters them," said Col. William Quinn. "They just can't get started."

Refugee reports said Chinese Reds were looting abandoned Hamhung, big Northeast Korea industrial city six miles inland from Hungnam. Terrified Korean civilians were reported streaming north and south from the looted city.

Red Group Heads Home

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Dec. 19.—(UP)—The Chinese Communist delegation to the United Nations prepared to head home today while UN officials moped some word from Peking might hold them here to negotiate a cease-fire in Korea.

Gen. Wu Hsiu-Chuan, Peking's chief envoy to the UN, and the other eight members of his delegation were scheduled to leave from Idlewild airport aboard a British Overseas Airways Stratocruiser at 2:30 p.m. MST.

The three-man UN cease-fire commission, headed by general assembly president Nasrollah Entezam of Iran, forwarded an official invitation to the Chinese Communist capital last Saturday to negotiate "here or elsewhere" on ending the Korean fighting. UN officials estimated that if Mao Tze-Tung's government wished to reply immediately, the answer could reach here some time today.

Machine-Gun Killer of Two Hangs In East

SIMCOE, Ont., Dec. 19.—(BUP)—Herbert J. McAuliffe was hanged today for machine-gunning two tobacco farmers to death when they tried to capture him as he fled from a bank robbery.

The 27-year-old ex-soldier, a one-time small arms expert, died on a gallows at Norfolk County jail for killing Arthur Lierman and William Goddyn, who chased him after he robbed a Langton, Ont., bank last June.

McAuliffe plunged through a trap on the Norfolk gallows at 12:40 a.m. He was pronounced dead by jail surgeon Herbert McIntosh 10 minutes later.

Vindication of Workers' Case Seen In Report

MONTREAL, Dec. 19.—(CP)—Frank Hall and A. R. Mosher, joint chairmen of the negotiating committee representing railway employes said in a joint statement today that Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock's arbitration railway decision is "substantial vindication of the employes' case."

The union leaders' statement, made on behalf of 122,000 railway workers affected by the report, said:

"The representation of the employes regard Mr. Justice Kellock's arbitration decision as substantial vindication of the employes' case. Request for a wage increase of seven cents per hour has been met in full. The unions had previously offered to accept the five-day 40-hour week effective June 1, 1951 and, therefore, the arbitrator's decision supports their position on that score.

"We regret, however, that Mr. Justice Kellock did not apply the full wage increase and the five-day 40-hour week to the hotel and water transport employes. We feel that the substantial justice and merits of the case in this regard warranted the same consideration to these as to the other employes.

"It was also our view that parliament intended there should be no discrimination in reaching and applying the final terms of settlement, and it will be the intention to pursue this aspect of the matter further.

"The fact that the over-all agreement is to remain in effect for two years, as well as the situation respecting hotel and water transport employes, point up the urgent necessity for government imposition of price controls. The living standards of the workers must not be allowed to deteriorate as a result of ever-increasing living costs. We urge the government to immediately impose controls on the price of basic commodities."

Pravda Finds 'The Reason'

MOSCOW, Dec. 19. — (AP)—Pravda today branded President Truman's proclamation of a state of emergency in the United States as "a new explosion of war hysteria."

The Communist Party newspaper termed the President's statement a demonstration that the present government of the United States intends to continue to carry out its already-bankrupt aggressive policy." It added that "other than further failures, nothing can come of this."

The paper called on the Russian people to intensify their vigilance "towards the aggressive powers and especially towards all their international intrigues."

The editorial was the first comprehensive Soviet comment on the presidential proclamation of last Friday.

Third Largest Moose Shot In Manitoba Wilds

WINNIPEG, Dec. 19.—(CP)—A moose with 68-inch antler spread—believed to be the third largest ever shot in Manitoba—was killed recently by a hunter from Bemidji, Minn., it was learned yesterday.

The Manitoba record is 74 inches.

The moose was bagged by Harry F. Roese, a member of a party which also took the second largest animal—72 inches—several weeks ago. That one was downed by Dewey M. Wright of St. Louis, Mo., near The Pas, Man.

SECRET DISCOVERY

Wonder What's 'The Thing?' At Last We've Found It

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M., Dec. 19.—(AP)—The University of New Mexico yesterday disclosed that a mysterious 18-inch sphere was found by deer hunters south of here and still has not been identified.

The object, with its accessories, has the experts stumped.

Dr. Lincoln LaPaz, head of the institute of meteoritics at the university, cannot explain the find. Nor can numerous other agencies who have inspected it.

The sphere came to Dr. LaPaz in connection with his recent investigation of fireballs and meteorites.

In the find are the sphere—built of a light metal apparently dura-aluminum, and weighing seven pounds, two ounces; an object resembling a large flower pot built of plastic imbedded with nylon fibres; a cheap alarm clock equipped with an expensive micro switch, and three packages of photographic film used in nuclear research.

The materials are seemingly American-made. The film is stamped with the name of a London firm but is also handled by an American firm.

Dr. LaPaz will return today to the spot in the Capitan mountains 130 airline miles southeast of Albuquerque where the objects were found. At the same time he made public the previously-secret discovery in hopes a new clue would turn up.

The discovery was turned in to the institute Nov. 23.

Dr. LaPaz has two theories:

1. That the sphere and its equipment were ejected from a guided missile.

2. That they were carried aloft by a large balloon.

80 'Hat Workers Ask Pottery Probe

Medicine Hat Lay-offs Brings Petition to Gov't

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., Dec. 19.—(CP)—Some 80 workers of Medicine Hat Potteries, most of them laid off last week with a "no work" notice, have petitioned federal and provincial authorities for an investigation into the local pottery industry.

Another local pottery firm employing some 200 persons has not yet been affected by the layoffs.

Appeals have been made for action which would stabilize the industry with a guarantee of year-round employment at least on a 48-week basis.

The petition, signed by officers of a pottery workers' CCL union, asks for assistance (subsidies) for the industry, if this should be found necessary, and imposition of import embargoes against English and American pottery ware.

BEFORE COUNCIL

The petition has been sent to Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, Premier E. C. Manning and Industries-Labor Minister J. L. Robinson of Alberta, and was also tabled before city council last night.

It was signed by T. A. McCloy, regional CCL director, R. W. Silver, president, and Chris Hehr, secretary of the union.

The petition points out that "periodic shutdowns" in the pottery industries warrant an investigation "to level out the hills and valleys of employment within this trade."

"We have been told," continues the report, "that English and United States competition in pottery ware affects Canadian production adversely. If this be true then government action should be taken to protect Canadian workmen and plants.

WORKING CONDITIONS

"If a subsidy is necessary to improve working conditions within this industry then it should be provided. A competent government investigation should be undertaken to determine a basis for continuity of operations within the pottery industries of Medicine Hat."

A year ago local potteries were affected by the devaluation of sterling, with some unemployment occasioned by cutbacks of orders. New lines were developed and some price cuts effected as well as operating economies, to get the plants back into operation.

Since then rising costs, increased freight rates, and keener competition in distant markets have again threatened successful operations of local plants. Raw materials and finished products shipped to markets all involve long freight hauls.

Boy Injured In Mishap

A four-year-old boy suffered a fractured leg and pelvis when he was run over by a truck Saturday morning.

Roger Prevost, 12541 129 Street, is in General Hospital following the accident in front of the West End Grocery, 11027 127 Street, at 9:45 a.m. Police said driver of the truck was Paul Ross, 11227 106 Street.

Ross told police he came out of the store and noticed the children playing about his truck. He warned them away, he started up and felt a slight bump. He then noticed the child lying on the ground. He took it home to its mother and it was later taken to hospital.

Robert Powell, Twin Birch Auto Court, was charged by police Monday with dangerous driving and failing to remain at the scene of an accident following a mishap at 102 avenue and 135 street.

Police said Powell ran into the rear of an auto driven by Ted S. Cross, 9749-101 street at the intersection and then proceeded west of 102 avenue without stopping.

Navy Bomber Said Lost

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 19—(AP)—A twin-engined Navy patrol bomber with seven men aboard vanished yesterday on a tactical training mission hundreds of miles at sea.

At 8 p.m., PST, when its fuel supply would have given out, the Navy officially listed the land plane from the nearby Whidby Island naval air station as presumed down in the icy Pacific.

No trace of the crew members or their P2V bomber was found during an intensive search that extended long past nightfall.

Search was concentrated 400 miles off Cape Flattery, northernmost tip of the United States.

Sea markers were spotted in that area during the day, lending strength to the belief the bomber may have ditched or crashed in the churning waves.

HONG KONG, Dec. 19—(UP)—The Chinese Communist news agency said today a "people's government" has been established in an area of eastern Tibet invaded by Red troops last October.

The agency said a government for the "Tibetan autonomous region of Sikang province" was founded Nov. 24 by a conference representing Chinese, Tibetan, Moslem and other racial groups.

The agency said the conference called on Tibetans to "resist American aggression and aid Korea."

Allied Gunfire Halts Red Attack

Navy and marine airmen pounded 22 Red troop concentrations within a 60-mile radius of Hungnam. They claimed they killed or wounded 600 Communists.

A total of 25,000 Reds were pressing against the allied lines on the coastal plain and another 75,000 or more were reported swarming down the mountains.

On the ground, 3rd Division troops fighting out of frozen foxholes buried back four Communist attacks Monday night and before daylight Tuesday.

FANATICAL ATTACKS

A 10th Corps spokesman said the Reds attacked in darkness with fanatical fury.

At no point on the dwindling defence arc around Hungnam portthe last allied position of any consequence in North Korea—were the Reds able to break through.

The western Korean front was quiet. The U.S. Eighth Army was not in direct contact with the enemy Tuesday.

The 10th Corps spokesman said there were signs of a Communist build-up in strength to push the allied forces out of Hungnam.

The American battleship Missouri and the heavy cruisers St. Paul and Rochester City cut through the icy Sea of Japan waters off Hungnam port. Coveys of destroyers paced alongside.

CURTAIN OF STEEL

Carrier Task Force 77, under Rear Admiral E. C. Ewen, added the sting of its planes to the allied firepower protecting Hungnam.

Four spanking new American F-86 Sabre jet fighters tangled with 12 Russian-built MIG-15 jets Monday near Sinuiju in northwest Korea.

It was the second time the fastest operating jets had met in combat.

Maj-Gen. Earle E. Partridge, Fifth Air Force commander, said the four American Sabre jets drove off the 12 MIGS after damaging one of the Russian-built planes. He said the MIG pilots showed no desire to fight.

In their first engagement Sunday, also near Sinuiju, an American Sabre jet pilot shot down an MIG.

Railmen Get Further Increase In Wages

Canadian unions involved. The others all were international bodies.

MEET UNION OFFER

In connection with the 40-hour week, the arbitrator ruled there should be no overtime pay rates up to 48 hours per week for the first three months after June 1, 1951. This was in line with the latest offer of the unions in negotiations.

The companies had agreed to the 40-hour week, but only to start next Sept. 1.

Their final offer on wages had been a four-cents-an-hour increase effective last Sept. 1.

Thus, the arbitrator gave the men, above what the company offered, roughly $17,600,000 a year in hourly pay plus the cost of the 40-hour week between next June 1 and Sept. 1.

Mr. Justice Kellock based the wage-increase award largely on increased living costs and on a comparison between the wage positions of railway workers and those in other Canadian industries.

He said railway workers now were in a disadvantageous position as against workers in durable goods industries, both as to hourly wages and hours of work.

WOULD BE WORSE

Without a rail wage increase, he said, the probability was that this position would become "increasingly disadvantageous."

By next June 1, he said, railway workers under his award would be earning on the average $1.29 cents an hour for 40 hours a week, or $51.72. Durable goods workers would be making $51 at $1.20 an hour for 42.5 hours.

While the rail employee would be earning slightly more per week for less work, the justice said, he noted that the paths of the two groups in the past had crossed and re-crossed.

While the full seven-cent award would apparently put the rail worker in a more advantageous position than had been the case in recent years as against the durable goods employe, the "tendency will be for this disadvantage to be overtaken during the unexpired term of the rail contracts . . ."

In making the award to the non-operating employes, Mr. Justice Kellock observed that he understands it will inevitably influence a settlement in connection with claims of the 31,000 operating employes of the railways—those who run the trains.

SEPARATE DEALS

These employes have been engaged in separate negotiations with the railways for several months, with the talks suspended during Mr. Justice Kellock's inquiry. It was understood the discussions were to start up again once his report was filed.

In rejecting the claims of the hotel and water transport employes for the same treatment as the bulk of the employes, the arbitrator settled an issue on which neither side had budged during the long negotiations. The unions were insistent that this group be included, while the companies wanted to deal with it separately.

The hotel workers involved are all Canadian National Railways employes (Canadian Pacific Railway hotels are under provincial jurisdiction), while the water employes consist of 700 with the CPR and 350 with the CNR.

Of the hotel workers, Mr. Justice Kellock took the view they belonged to a separate industry from the operation of a railway and, further, were generally paid wages in line with highest pay in hotels of similar standing in each community.

NO CASE ATTEMPTED

Also, he said, no case for the 40-hour week had been attempted on behalf of the hotel employes. The 40-hour week was not in operation in any Canadian hotel.

The arbitrator said the basis of argument was essentially the same for the water transport employes, who are employed on the Pacific coast and on inland lakes in British Columbia.

Mr. Justice Kellock came to the conclusion the water transport operations must be regarded as a separate industry and in competition with local operators. He said there had been no evidence indicating wages paid the water transport employes were lower than local wages paid in the area, or lower than they should be.

Gov't Checks Tb. Charge

Charges levelled against the General hospital tuberculosis section by the Canadian Legion branch here are being studied by the provincial health department.

Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health, said today he had been informed of the Legion's complaint that food in the tuberculosis section of the hospital is "unpalatable" and is served on cracked and chipped dishes. General sanitary conditions of the hospital section were also criticized by the Legion.

Dr. Cross added that following study of a similar complaint last year, provincial health authorities had found an improvement in conditions at the hospital. (See other story Page 13).

Police Aided By Blood After Theft

Beverly police are seeking a "considerate" burglar that last night broke into Purity Store, 40 street and 118 avenue.

When breaking a window to gain entrance to the premises, the thief apparently cut his hand on the sharp glass and did not bother to cover up his blood-stained trail when leaving the building.

Police today are investigating the break-in, but no arrests have yet been made.

St. John's Home and School Association will hold a box social and square dance in the near future to help pay for sports equipment.

Date of the social will be set at its next meeting, the association decided last night.

Association's meeting was addressed by Rev. Dunstan McLellan, OPM, who chose as his subject, "Child Guidance."

F. W. Conroy presided at the meeting.

The Christmas party for the three branches of the Edmonton Friendship Club will be held tonight instead of last night as previously announced. Festivities get under way at 7:30 in the Recreation Building, 100 street and 103 avenue.

Christmas tree thieves are giving parks board officials trouble.

Emulating George Washington with his little hatchet, two persons were spotted hacking down a fir tree within the city. One man told police he thought the tree, at 87 avenue and Saskatchewan Drive, was out of the city.

Another man gave no explanation. He just ran when he saw an employe approaching on 142 street.

The looters knocked off the dial, punched out the spindle and attempted to batter in the door with a heavy sledgehammer taken from the company garage.

Entry was gained by climbing through a rear window. The break-in was discovered by an employe at 7:30 a.m. today.

MERRY CHRISTMAS for parents, brothers and sisters of Joey Dunnigan, two, took on new meaning this week with news tiny sufferer from rare blood disease might be home to enjoy "truck and tractor" Christmas morn. Boy has had over 50 transfusions since February, but was well enough to visit Santa Claus recently as happy interlude from many trips to hospital.

Tragic Christmas Story Has a Silver Lining

By Barney McKinley

This is a sort of 1950 'Christmas Carol' story.

It's all about Joey Dunnigan, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dunningan, 10752-92 street, and how Joey will probably be home for Christmas despite the dangerous blood ailment he has been fighting since February.

Since that date the Red Cross and private donors have given blood for 50 transfusions as city doctors sought to counteract the strange infection threatening his life.

Doctors call the disease secondary thrombocytopenia and describe it as due to primary staphiococcae infection.

It means that Joey's life is almost in constant danger and only those transfusions every two weeks, plus an operation, have kept him well enough to enjoy Christmas.

PROMISE MADE

Last week he went to see Santa Claus and was promised a "truck and a tractor." That made it a big day for a small tot who is more used to visiting hospitals than toylands.

His parents said yesterday they believed Joey—the baby of the family—would be able to stay home for the Yuletide season.

The news meant a lot to Joey's six brothers and three sisters.

And all the Dunnigans would like to wish Merry Christmas and thanks a thousand times to the people who took time out from their work to donate the blood that made it possible for Joey to enjoy the truck and tractor he will find under the tree on Christmas morn.

Scarlet Fever Claims Victim

First death from scarlet fever in Edmonton since 1944 was reported today by city health officials.

A man died from the disease recently. During 1944 there was one death.

"There was some increase in incidence of the disease during November, although most cases were mild ones," they said.

Outline Looming On Civil Defence

Jan. 5 Set for Address By Manning On Defence Plan

Alberta's civil defence organization and plans for public participation in civil defence will be outlined Jan. 5 by Premier E. C. Manning.

Mr. Manning will address a joint meeting of the Edmonton Canadian Club and the Chamber of Commerce at the Macdonald Hotel at noon on that day.

Representatives from municipalities surrounding Edmonton will be asked to attend.

The address will be the premier's first public disclosure of civil defence arrangements.

CIVIL DEFENCE

Early this summer Hon C. E. Gerhart, minister of municipal affairs, was placed in charge of civil defence matters.

Since then Mr. Gerhart has established a provincial civil defence committee headed by Air Vice Marshal G. R. Howsam, and a government committee headed by Col. E. Ted Brown.

Meetings have been held by the two committees with a cabinet committee on civil defence, and with civic representatives and with Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, co-ordinator of civil defence for the federal department of national defence.

Plans have been formulated for such civil defence measures as population surveys, decentralizing of industries, inventories of material and medical resources.

Hockey Game Proves Costly For City Pair

It was an expensive hockey game last night for Frank Redford and Wilfred Greenwald.

Plus their tickets and a bottle of rum, the night cost them an extra $20 when they appeared in court today and pleaded guilty to illegal possession of liquor in the Exhibition Gardens.

A charge of smoking in the arena also cost them $15 each.

Man Jailed Four Days On Old Charge

A man who travelled from Montreal to answer a charge of theft committed here in 1945, today was sentenced to four days in jail.

However, Arthur Walsmley won't be sent up to Fort Saskatchewan. Magistrate S. G. Main sentenced him to time already spent in custody during the summer.

In 1945, Walsmley stole a sports coat from a downtown department store. Knowing his identity, police issued a warrant for his arrest.

WARRANT CAUGHT UP

Last summer, the warrant caught up to him and he appeared before the magistrate here and was remanded until today for sentence.

Following his remand, he went to Montreal, where he got employment as an electrician.

In order to appear here, he had to make the trip from Montreal for his brief session with justice.

Today, a free man, he returned to Montreal.

Smoky Lake Man Killed

SMOKY LAKE, Dec. 19—William Cromnearty, 64, of Island Lake, was smothered to death last week when he was pinned under a load of mashed chop.

Two Veteran Railmen Quit

Two Canadian Pacific Railway employes, who together have contributed 79 years of service to the company, will retire at the end of the month.

Arthur A. Knox, 10547-83 avenue, telegraph despatch operator here, and Richard George Jones, train conductor at Red Deer, announced their retirements today.

Mr. Knox began working for the CPR in May of 1910 and since that time has remained as despatcher in the local office, except for a number of years in Calgary and Lethbridge.

Mr. Jones has been employed by the company since 1911. Upon entering their service he began as a car checker, and a number of months later was promoted to trainman.

In 1920 he was appointed as conductor.

Coast Guard Seeks Tugboat

BUFFALO, N.Y., Dec. 19—(AP)—The Coast Guard said last night a search for the tugboat Sachem with 12 men aboard was in progress on Lake Erie between here and Erie, Pa. The Sachem, owned by the Dunbar and Sullivan Dredging Company of Buffalo, left about 7 a.m. EST, for Dunkirk and should have arrived there around noon, a Coast Guard spokesman said. Dunkirk is 45 miles southwest of Buffalo.

Gunshot Wounds Hospitalize Boy

RAYMOND, Alta., Dec. 19.—(CP)—Fourteen-year-old Leo Jessup was in critical condition last night in hospital here with a stomach gunshot wound suffered Sunday.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19—(AP)—The House of Representatives yesterday approved a compromise bill authorizing $38,000,000 in emergency aid to drought-pinched Yugoslavia. The bill now goes to the Senate, where final action is expected tomorrow before the measure goes to the White House.

Boyle Hospital District Okayed by Ratepayers

Special to The Bulletin

BOYLE, Dec. 19.—Hospital district for Boyle was unanimously endorsed by ratepayers here Saturday, according to returns announced today.

Returns on the polls in the referendum indicated 661 in favor of the formation of Boyle Hospital District, and 44 against. The vote was one of the heaviest recorded in the area.

As a result of the plebiscite, contracts will be made with St. Catherine's Hospital, Lac La Biche, the Athabasca Municipal Hospital, and St. Joseph's Hospital, Radway.

Ratepayers will be entitled to the $1 a year rate, while non-ratepayers will be offered the flat rate of $10 per family.

The hospital district will be officially formed Jan. 1, 1951.

TEN BROKE AWAY

Formation of the new district was first applied for last year, when 10 townships broke away from Athabasca Hospital District.

At that time, the department of health insisted 10 townships were not enough to form a district, and added five more to the area. These additional five townships had no previous hospital plan.

Returning officer in the plebiscite was J. Seminiuk.

Evidence for Peace

The statement on the war situation by Hugh Baillie, president of the United Press, which was published exclusively in The Bulletin yesterday, was a masterly summing up of a mass of informative facts which appear to establish the likelihood that world war is not immediately imminent.

Mr. Baillie, whose experience in handling and evaluating news is lengthy and profound, comes to the conclusion, after an exhaustive scrutiny of the entire situation, that Russia is not yet ready for all-out war, probably because she has nothing effective to offer against the atom bomb.

One of the points that impels Mr. Baillie to this belief is the present Russian insistence upon maintaining a major disturbance in the Far East.

Obviously, Mr. Baillie implies, Russia hopes to focus democratic attention and exhaust democratic resources against the "bottomless pit" of Asiatic manpower while she herself prepares for an eventual blow in Europe.

If she were ready to strike with her own divisions and armament, she would choose the present moment when the Asiatic distraction is already in full swing and before the plans for the co-operative defence of Europe are completed and consummated.

While this carefully considered judgment does not dispel the threat of war, it may be taken as good news in that it offers sound reasons for believing that world war does not lie in the immediate future.

And this is good news because, if Russia needs more time for preparation, the western democracies need it no less.

With President Truman's proclamation of national emergency gearing the United States to utmost speed in defence preparation and with the defence organization of Europe now safely launched under the popular leadership of General Eisenhower, a further hope, consistent with the spirit of the season, begins to emerge.

That hope is that the western democracies may quickly attain such strength that Russia may never build up sufficient assurance to precipitate a world war and that aggressive Communism, capable of perishing under frustration, may experience internal reverses behind the Iron Curtain before the moment arrives when the Kremlin will find it propitious to strike.

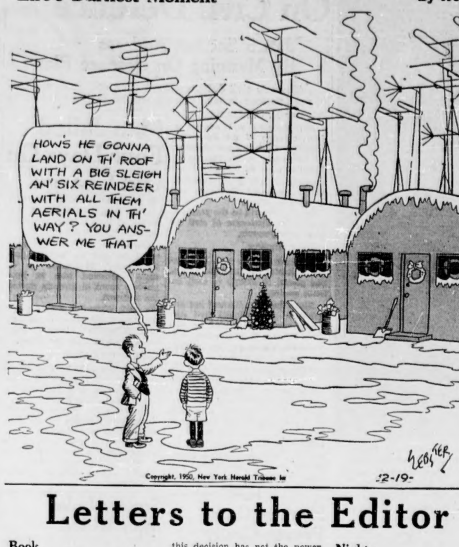

Exhibition's Auditorium Plans

A great many more attractive features will have to be added to the plans of the Exhibition Board for a civic auditorium before those plans are enthusiastically received by the general public as a complete fulfilment of Edmonton's auditorium needs.

There is no doubt that the proposal for a structure seating 3,500 people and offering smaller committee and meeting rooms for the use of the public has its points.

There is no doubt, too, that the argument offered by the Board that extensive parking facilities already exist in the Exhibition Grounds will add to the plan's merits.

But there are two major objections to the project that have not been answered.

The first is that the site suggested for the auditorium on Exhibition land is not a central site and this disadvantage of decentrality is aggravated by the fact that the centre of population in Edmonton is steadily moving northward and westward.

Thus, if the suggested location is poor now, it will become even poorer in future years as the city grows.

The second objection is that the auditorium should not be located for the exclusive convenience of those who own or use motor cars.

There is a tremendous number of people in Edmonton who rely on the transit system for transportation and even a considerable number of car owners who do not choose to expose their vehicles to the hazards of a crowded public parking place after nightfall.

Certainly the Exhibition Grounds offer no great convenience for those who travel by transit bus.

The bus loading stations are too far from the proposed building. The lighting in the grounds is too poor. In inclement weather, only a highly superior attraction would persuade people to stumble through the half light and through the mud or snow between auditorium and remote bus stops.

None of these difficulties is insurmountable. The grounds could be better lighted. Buses could be routed to the very door of the auditorium.

But until these problems are solved, the proposal, interesting as it is, should receive very careful consideration before the city takes any part in it.

Must Be Carelessness Somewhere

The gruesome story of the unfortunate Edmonton man who "came back to life" while his supposedly dead body was being hauled to an undertaker does not make pleasant Christmas reading.

But the public fear of premature burial is so real and intense that it is necessary to give these grisly facts publicity so that errors of this kind can never occur again.

It appears that this man had been given a powerful stimulant in extremis and, since the stimulant did not seem to work, the attending doctor certified death.

Then the drug did take effect only before the victim was laid upon a mortuary slab.

No actual harm may be done.

It is true, too, that had the process of embalming proceeded, there would have been not the slightest chance that he would have been buried alive.

Nevertheless the mental effect of regaining consciousness in a morgue, besides being a horrible and revolting idea, might have been enough to permanently derange the mentality of the patient even though he eventually recovered his physical health.

It stands to be very clear that "bodies" should not be hurried off to undertakers' establishments until the most infallible tests for life have repeatedly shown negative.

There is clearly an element of carelessness here somewhere that cannot be tolerated in a civilized country.

Letters to the Editor

Book Review

Editor, Bulletin.—Having recently noted book reviews in several other publications as well as those in your interesting paper, I am sending you one which I consider excellent.

"I will never finish reading this book in my lifetime. It begins by having a beautiful home destroyed by rebellion. Tragedy, disaster, sorrow, murder and death follow. As the family multiplies, the plunge into despair and darkness accelerates. Centuries roll by, nations rise and fall, thousands of characters pass in review, every human emotion from stark, raw hate to a martyr's love is encountered. Hope beginning as a faint spark grows to absolute assurance. A perfect government is to re-establish the beautiful home. Its ruler is the King, Christ Jesus. The government, the Kingdom of God. The family, the human race. The book is the Bible."

As many have proved to their satisfaction a systematic study of the Bible is the most rewarding effort humanity can make in these troubled times. It is God's Word, the Truth which frees men from fear of man, one of the greatest freedoms as those who know can testify. To enjoy freedom from fear we must learn of "perfect love" with heart, mind and soul of God and our neighbors as ourselves.

Ill-Advised Agitation

Editor, Bulletin—Amid the rejoicing and acclaim which has been manifested by a few politicians, many writers and news commentators and some consumers over the recent decision of the Privy Council with regard to the presumed illegality of the banning by the Federal Government of margarine, in all this confusion of many voices, all without regard to the economic consequences of the Frankinstein they have set in motion, it might be well to consider calmly the problems created by all this ill-advised agitation.

First, with regard to the consumer. During the past six or eight years when the cost of living was rising, I have been amazed at the wails of some consumers (not all, but a few) howling about the price of butter in a situation in which for the first time in a quarter of a century the dairy farmer was getting something fairly resembling city wages and some kind of a standard of living while milking cows. Yes, I might further say that with the exception of about a year in the latter part of and after World War 1, with this exception and the period just before margarine was re-introduced recently, all the rest of my life, covering over half a century, I have seen others and milked cows myself at prices far below the cost of production and not a word of appreciation for this slave labor butter and milk on the tables of these same politicians, consumers, etc. And with all these butter price agitations not a whisper about the prices of other goods and services, not a word about liquor, tobacco, clothes, transportation and other goods and services all produced with the inevitable burden of the profit system.

Today the dairy farmers of Canada are struggling against almost hopeless odds. It will be a sad day indeed for Canada if we lost that vital and foundation industry in exchange for saving a few cents in the daily menu of our people. Less by far than the cost of the daily package of cigarettes and the further privilege of sending out many millions of Canadian dollars for imported oils, fats and grease.

Another point which nobody is paying any attention to is this: If the Federal Government under this decision has not the power to ban a commodity, what, I ask you, is the position of the whole Canadian grading system? (A very good system, by the way, as far as it goes.) Just take a minute and think that one over. What a mess we will be in with possibly nine or ten different Provincial grading systems in this Dominion of ours. That is one of the possibilities. It is now up to the Provinces to give the farmer the necessary protection and to restore some order in the present chaos in the dairy industry in Canada.

In conclusion the action of some farmers—(fortunately few in numbers) in patronizing this conglomeration of imported oils and fats in relation to their fellow producers in one of the noblest callings on earth, is comparable only to that of trusting Gouzenko and Judas Iscariot.

A-Bomb Fence?

Editor, Bulletin — This is just a thought, but wish for you to comment on it or read it anyway.

The Korean crisis right now where the Commies are doing all the driving and us, on the other hand, with atomic bombs, why can't we not build a fence say along the 38 parallel and let the Chinese or Russians enter into it? They would not last long if they did and that way we still would be able to use the same 38 parallel.

Drop the bombs after evacuating everyone in the areas; post and broadcast warnings and let the other parties ignore the same if they wish, at their own risk.

In that way we are not butchering or causing any act of breach of International Law and thus it would be for the other side to figure some other way to pass it.

OLD TROOPER FROM LAST SHINDIG

Night Parking

Editor, Bulletin — I wonder if the Edmonton Bulletin, which is usually on the right side of the fence in regard to controversial subjects, can do something to abolish the stupid bylaw prohibiting overnight parking in the city.

I own a house on 106th street north of Jasper avenue which is used by my son. A week ago I spent one night at his home and parked my car out in front overnight. There are railroad tracks at the rear of the yard always spotted with boxcars which would not permit me to drive my car into the yard. Next morning I found that the efficient police force had put a ticket on my car, even though it was parked in front of my own property. I was informed by the police department that the purpose of this "no parking" bylaw was to keep the streets free of cars at nights in order that they can be cleaned.

This incident occurred a week ago, about the same time that we had a somewhat heavy snowfall. Snow has been scraped from the sidewalks into the gutter and has been there for a week. No effort whatsoever has been made by the city to have it removed, in spite of the fact that the streets have been kept free of cars at nights.

Just what is the exact purpose of these signs? Doesn't the city get enough money from car-owners by using parking meters? Why don't they just ban parking in the city altogether and get it over with?

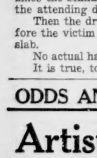
ODDS AND ENDS By Harold L. Weir

Artists Choose Ten Faces Said Most 'Stimulating'

The other day, presumably for lack of something better to do, the National Association of Women Artists (New York) announced its selection of the "ten most stimulating faces in America."



WEIR

The peculiar civilization nourished in the United States apparently feels the need for these periodical rescripts which are in organizations of which no one ever heard before publish pontifical edicts about things of no serious consequence to anybody.

Thus, every year, somebody or other puts out a list of the ten best dressed women in America.

Then, a few days later, somebody else comes to bat with the ten best dressed men in America.

After this we are treated to a rather grisly spectacle of dissection in which a third body of pundits carves up a number of the more obviously attractive females in the social and movie magazines and declares in all solemnity, that Mrs. van Puyster of Oyster Bay has the most glamorous optics, Tillie Titter of Beverly Hills has the most irritable clavicle and debutante Lilyan Lilliwinkle III possesses of all eterna, that very sternum which all right thinking men would most love to touch.

Numerous Difficulties

Now the basis of competition in all these selections is slightly obscure.

In the first place, who are these people to come rigat out and say, as though they were delivering something out of Sinai, that so-and-so sports the snappiest frocks, thingamejig wears the hottest lounge suits and whatsername has the patella to end all patellae?

If these organizations, or whatever they are, had an army of scouts all over this continent, peering in wardrobes and prying over human contours, there might be something in it.

But the chances are that these people who issue these pronunciamentos have never been more than ten blocks from 42 street and Broadway in their lives, except for brief and infrequent visits to the Bronx Zoo to see their relatives.

Personally I object very much to a bunch of anonymous bozos squatting on their middle-aged spreads in some Broadway dive and telling me every year whose neckties I should ape and to whose femur I should offer incense.

Highly Obscure

What is a "stimulating" face?

If they had said "stimulated face" I would have known what they were talking about. I would immediately have thought of Tommy Manville and W. C. Fields and Ray Milland and other notorious lushes of face and fiction.

Indeed, I think that a contest to pick the ten pottiest faces in the United States would have been rather naive.

But they didn't say "stimulated," they said "stimulating." And to clarify the thing, I will admit, they did give examples.

For instance, Arturo Toscanini is included in the ten because his face has "controlled power and sensitivity."

What do they know about such things? Where have they looked?

Did they ever see my bank manager saying "no" in a most subtle blend of inflexibility and tearful regret? There's "controlled power and sensitivity" for you that would make Toscanini look like a bobby-soxer.

A television wallah named Dan Seymour also makes the ten because his face is "sincere and relaxed."

There is a fellow with whom, in weaker moments, I play bridge and who is sincere also he tells our opponents about all his aces and so relaxed that he fails asleep between tricks.

Lauren Bacall gets a nod because her face is "bold and venturesome."

These people should see some of the foolhardy chucks who take me on as a partner at canasta.

The one in the list I like best is Ernest Hemingway who rates mention in the ten stimulating faces because of his masculinity.

He is described as having "a face that proclaims, 'I've hair on my chest.'"

Hemingway is a pisher.

There is a certain tomcat of my acquaintance who has hair all over and, brother, does he produce.

These compliers of lists would do better if they got around.

Smiles

"You're a fraud, you are," yelled the irate, old man as he stamped into the doctor's office and pounded his cane on the floor.

"Why, what do you mean?" asked the stunned medico.

The old man was still fuming. "In 1904 I caught cold and came to you for treatment, and you charged me three dollars," he wheezed.

"So I cured you, didn't I?" replied the doctor.

"Cured me? Cured me?" echoed the old man. "Just look at me. I'm sneezing again."

Jack Scott

Vim and Vigor Prove Downfall for Writer

California done me wrong.

There I was, gambolling down the shore and into the waves with the sand pipers, cavorting about the beach like a mad, overweight elf, flying kites, running about in shorts and occasionally leaping to the typewriter to sing some delirious praise of the people and the place and life in general.

Next thing I know I'm lying on my back staring feverishly up into the faces of my loved ones, a medicine man is making small, murmuring sounds over me, and, finally, an announcement: Temperature, 100; Diagnosis, A slight case of pneumonia.

This was California's answer to my song of delight and an abrupt end to our love affair.

So, for the past ten days, I have been swaddled and horizontal with what seemed to be sulfa and penicillin. (Me, not the elephant; I was too sick to notice an elephant sitting on my chest and subsisting almost entirely on what the elephant ate.)

Scott Finally Acts His Age

The doctor assured me, when I had passed what he dramatically called "the crisis," that California often has this effect on its visitors, sometimes fatally.

"You come down here and you say 'My! It's just like summer!' and you don't realize how damp it is," he said. "I meet a lot of tourists this way. A couple have even moved on permanently in Forest Lawn."

I am convalescing now, acting my age as I ought to have done in the first place, and wearing an ensemble suitable for seal spearing in Aklavik. The heck with the sun. I am putting my faith from now on in the calendar.

I suppose I've been as sick as this before, but I don't ever remember putting it in time of such plain, unvarnished misery and confusion.

At one point, all hopped up with infections, I must have got a little delirious because I couldn't shake the idea that I was somehow in a submerged submarine.

The fogs had rolled in from the open Pacific and engulfed our trailer, which is set up tentsorarily on a lonely shelf of the beach. The mists swirled soggily about the trailer windows for all the world as if we were six fathoms under the sea. The caravan never seemed so cramped and strange.

Because one of the two "rooms" had to be converted into a temporary infirmary this meant that my three gals were confined to the other cubicle, which is about eight feet square. One day when the doctor came and brought along his nurse (for laughs, I suppose) I was sure it was all just a bad dream.

I had been joking with my wife, in a fevered sort of way, about the submarine idea, but somehow I'd got the idea that it was the doctor with whom I'd been sharing the joke. He was a precise, but pleasant man with a crisp bedside manner.

Doctor Baffled By Behavior

After I had bared my tenderloin so that he could give me my injection lunch of penicillin I smiled and said, "It looks as if we'll never get out alive. I feel that I ought to read something aloud by Rupert Brook." (They always do this in the movies when men are trapped in a submarine and I thought it was a pretty good idea. It might have been, too, if the doctor had been in on the joke.)

"The main thing is just to rest," the doctor said, looking at me with open alarm. "And drink lots of juices."

"How's our oxygen holding out?" I said with a brave laugh.

The doctor looked at his nurse quizzically and said, "This stuff sure has some queer effects sometimes."

When he was about to take his departure, I chuckled wanly and said, "Going up through the torpedo tube?" He and the nurse left shaking their heads solemnly. My wife had overheard some of this and tried to explain to the doctor that I was joking. "He thinks he's in a submerged submarine," my wife whispered.

"Call me if he takes a turn for the worse," the doctor said.

One of the contributing factors to the last week's despair was the determination of our 10-year-old daughter to make like Florence Nightingale.

For a young lady whose nursing training was hitherto limited to putting splints on dolls I was clearly a wonderful subject, capable of almost no resistance except weakly rolling my eyes.

More than once I darkly contemplated infanticide as my little girl advanced, briskly brandishing her thermometer and prepared to take my pulse until my hand turned the color of sharkskin.

I learned to lie with one large ear tuned for my daughter's decision that "It's time for Daddy's sponge bath," my cue to begin moaning and muttering, "No bath, no bath."

I like to think now that only a life of clean living and stout devotion to the Boy Scout's oath kept me from perishing after some of those baths.

Still, all's well that ends well. After a couple of days of convalescence we are pushing on north to San Francisco, Oregon and Washington and home.

You can count on Daddy being a sedate and well-bundled up character from here in.

THE DOCTOR SAYS By EDWIN P. JORDAN, MD.

Periodic Examinations Urged In Family Cancer

The question of inheritance of cancer is important. Some facts on this problem are known and some are not.

There seems to be little doubt that cancer is more common in some families than in others, though this does not mean that cancer is inherited in the strict sense of the word.

Much of what we know about the inheritance of cancer comes from studies made in mice. The work which has been done in mouse cancer does not mean that what happens to mice will happen in exactly the same way to human beings.

By many careful studies on these animals, however, it has been found that certain strains of mice do develop the qualities of inheriting cancer, though this is not cancer in general, but only a certain kind of cancer. In other words, some strains of mice are likely to develop lung cancer, but unlikely to develop breast cancer whereas others show just the opposite.

Mother More Important

The tendency of mice to develop a particular kind of cancer is influenced by other things as well. In breast cancer, for example, the mother seems to be more important than the father in determining the chances of developing this condition. The milk with which they were fed, and the diet also play some part in the development of cancer in susceptible mice.

Now all this is very interesting, but what people really want to know is the answer to such questions as these: "My father and grandfather died of cancer—what are my chances?" or "My identical twin brother has a cancer of the stomach—should I be examined for it too?" Questions such as these cannot be answered with absolute certainty. However, the second question can be answered more accurately than the first.

Identical twins are derived from the same sperm and egg, and have the same heredity; if cancer develops in one, therefore, the other should be examined and carefully watched. Non-identical twins are no more likely to develop cancer of the same organ at the same age than any other brothers or sisters.

Don't Be Alarmed

Cancer in the family history such as was suggested in the first question, is not a cause for alarm, but merely an indication for caution. Inheritance is probably not the only factor involved in the development of cancer, but those who have a strong family tendency to this disease should be particularly careful to have periodic examinations which will discover anything wrong early enough for successful treatment.

This does not mean constant worry about cancer, but it does mean reasonable caution and prompt discovery of any tumor. In this way more and more lives are being saved.

BARRHEAD — Merchants in Barrhead report volume of sales this fall considerably higher than last year.

This is to be expected with the town expanding rapidly, but in view of the fact that crops were hardly up to par it is a wonderful showing. Turkeys and geese are in good supply, and everything points to a merry Christmas at Barrhead.

PIONEER farmer of Myrnam district, Steve Chanasyk, died here recently at age of 92 years. He came to Canada from Ukraine in 1903 with wife and nine children and settled in Musidora, moving to Innisfree in 1928. Surviving are four sons, six daughters, 57 grandchildren, 51 great-grandchildren and one brother.

Quebec Farmer Freed Of Seditious Libel

OTTAWA, Dec. 19.—(CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada, in a five-to-four decision, yesterday acquitted a Quebec farmer of a charge of seditious libel arising out of the distribution of a Jehovah's Witness pamphlet.

The court ordered the acquittal of Aime Boucher of St. Joseph de Beauce, Que., on the grounds that a pamphlet he distributed in 1946 contained no seditious libel. But four of the justices dissented and said in their opinion Boucher should be ordered to stand a new trial on the charge.

The judgment is final and cannot be appealed to the Privy Council in London. But just what the effect of the judgment will be on cases pending against Jehovah's Witnesses in Quebec was not immediately clear.

In Quebec a spokesman for the attorney-general's department said he thought it was unlikely that many cases in that province would be affected.

OVER 100 CASES

In Toronto, Glen How, counsel for the witnesses, said there "are well over 100 cases that will be directly governed by this decision."

The charge was laid against Boucher after he distributed a pamphlet entitled "Quebec's burning hate for God and Christ and freedom is the shame of all Canada."

Among other things the pamphlet referred to the administration of justice in Quebec and said that two of Jehovah's Witnesses were sentenced to 60 days' imprisonment or $300 fine for free distribution of a bible.

Oil Demand Shows Rise

CALGARY, Dec. 19.— (CP)—The estimated demand for Alberta crude oil in January was set at 90,460 barrels a day, an increase of 12,825 barrels a day over the December estimated demand, when the Alberta Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board accepted nominations at the court house here yesterday morning.

The demand came from eight companies operating 14 refineries at Calgary, Edmonton, Brandon, Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, Hartell, Borradaile, Lloydminster, Regina, Winnipeg, and the pipeline to Superior, Wis., for storage.

I. N. McKinnon, board chairman, said the demand would be prorated among the wells in the 12 producing oil fields upon which the demand had been made.

He said that the board hoped to hold a public hearing when nominations were submitted in January for the February demand for the purpose of hearing suggestions for the improvement of the proration system.

War Custom Being Revived

VANCOUVER, Dec. 19.—(CP)—A Christmas parcel from a lady in Saskatchewan to a stranger in Korea left Vancouver to be flown "to a Canadian soldier on active service, Korean zone, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry."

It was the first evidence at army base post office here of revival of the Second World War practice of strangers addressing Christmas presents to servicemen overseas.

The gift was from Mrs. F. Lancaster of Melfort, Sask. The Patricia's arrived in Korea yesterday.

"Inadequate addressing is our greatest trouble," said Capt. R. V. Hyde, officer commanding army base post office here. "Each parcel and letter should show the number, rank, name, unit and Canadian Army post office number."

Need for adequate addressing is emphasized by the fact that there are several different destinations for various units of the PPCLI.

Third battalion, PPCLI, mail goes one place, second battalion mail might go to one of three places depending upon which company is designated.

ANDREW, Dec. 18. — Lamont school division principals and vice-principals met in Andrew school recently.

New officers elected are: president, M. Krewaniuk; vice-president, J. W. Hueulak; secretary-treasurer, K. Hrehirchak.

N. M. Purvis, superintendent of schools, led a discussion on the survey tests which were administered in high school non-examination subjects last June in all schools of Lamont school division. Teachers present decided to revise the tests and to have them ready for June, 1951.

Food Shortages Threaten Northland

25 Inches of Snow Fall In Northern Saskatchewan

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Dec. 19.—(CP)—Travel conditions, said to be the worst in 70 years, are threatening 2,000 northern Saskatchewan residents with food shortages, a government official said yesterday.

George Burgess, welfare officer returning from an arduous trip to the northwest section of the province, said many residents of the scattered settlements in the winter-gripped area will have only fresh fish to eat unless fresh supplies are taken in.

Floyd Glass, Jr., manager of the Saskatchewan Government Airways, said food and Christmas supplies for the settlements depends on hunters, trappers and fishermen marking out runways on solid portions of lakes and rivers for aircraft.

That involved tramping down the snow with snowshoes and marking the fringes with evergreen boughs.

Trucks that usually take through supplies from Green Lake, 115 miles northeast of Prince Albert, have bogged down in deep snow. One snow plow is stuck 45 miles north of Green Lake. An estimated 23 inches of snow has fallen.

WORK STEADILY

It has made landing operations by aircraft a hazard. Lake and river surfaces are fluffy and churned. The Beaver and Churchill rivers are believed unsafe for landing for the rest of the winter.

The heavy fall has insulated the ice surface, depressing it below the water level or preventing formation of sufficient thickness.

Two government aircraft have been crippled — one falling through the Sturgeon Lake ice and a second breaking a ski.

Christmas and other supplies, are piling at Fort Black. There is no way to move them for distribution to Isle La Crosse, 176 miles northwest of here.

Whites, Metis and Indians have appealed to the provincial government highway department for assistance.

Men are working "around the clock" to get the roads open, Mr. Burgess said.

President Named

SEDGEWICK, Dec. 19—Organization meeting of Sedgewick Youth Adult club, recently held at the United Church manse, resulted in the choice of R. S. MacLean as president for the coming year.

Other officers elected were Miss I. M. Davies as vice-president and Mrs. G. Backen as secretary-treasurer, with Mrs. D. B. Corbett in charge of publicity.

Holy Land Outlook Glum For Christmas

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 19—(AP)—Another dreary Christmas is in store for the Arab residents of this village where Christ was born.

More than 40,000 Arab refugees are crowded into wind and rain-swept tents in the cold, grey Judean hills surrounding Bethlehem. As number live in hillside caves dug centuries ago. Some are jammed into the small stone houses in this ancient and holy place.

Even without the refugees, Bethlehem would not be a cheerful place. Ninety per cent of its normal population of 12,000 has been without work since the Palestine conflict erupted 30 months ago.

Many Bethlehem residents worked lands now part of Israeli territory. Others who worked for the British mandate administration in Palestine have been without jobs since Britain pulled out.

Despite the Roman Catholic Holy Year, there are few pilgrims coming to the birthplace of Christ these days. The times are too troubled and travel too uncertain. Normally the tourist trade provides work for many.

Every now and then a crowd of refugees will stage a protest demonstration, but there is a feeling of futility and lack of hope.

Butrus Abu Khalil, acting mayor of Bethlehem, says:

"I don't see what will happen. The United Nations is continually shelving the refugee question. I hope the example of Christ, whose birth we are observing very shortly, will arouse the conscience of the world."

King Writer To Be Named

OTTAWA, Dec. 19.—(CP)—Dr. R. MacGregor Dawson, professor of political economy at the University of Toronto, is reported to be the choice of the executors as biographer of the late former Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Fred A. McGregor, one of the literary executors who was assisting Mr. King on his memoirs before he died and has been constantly engaged on his papers since, said today he was not in a position to make an announcement at the moment.

However it was learned on good authority that the executors have agreed on the choice of Dr. Dawson and that his selection will be announced in a few weeks.

COSTS PAID

Dr. Dawson is a well known writer on Canadian affairs. His latest book is "The Government of Canada" published in 1947.

Mr. King was working on his memoirs and the editing of his voluminous letters and documents, assisted by a staff headed by Mr. McGregor, when his last illness forced him to give it up. He died last July 22.

The Rockefeller Foundation provided a fund to pay the costs of staff and research.

Wheat Price May Increase

SASKATOON, Dec. 19—(CP)—H. A. Wagner, field man for the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool, said recently that if the Canadian Wheat Board continues sales at present prices, farmers can expect 40 to 50 cents a bushel more for frozen wheat in the lower grades.

He addressed the annual meeting of the Saskatoon committee of the Pool.

Mr. Wagner's statement was in direct contrast to one made here last Thursday by Agriculture Minister I. C. Nollet in an address to the Saskatchewan Farmers' Union.

Mr. Nollet had said the initial price for frozen wheat was likely to be the final payment as the wheat was of no use except as livestock feed in Canada.

However, Mr. Wagner said there is a prospect of selling the wheat in the United States. He said U.S. farmers are satisfied with it and can use it for feed along with corn.

It could be exported to the U.S. in quantity if the price was kept in relation to that paid for American corn.

No Tax Levied On Contributions

HANNA, Dec. 19—Word that all contributions to the Hanna Covered Arena Association will be free from income tax was received here by Al Taylor, secretary of the Association.

It is hoped this will help to add to the contributions already received, which total approximately $17,000.

With this amount the arena should get started early next year but a sizeable amount is needed yet to complete the work.

CHRISTMAS CHEER

For Those in Need and Want!

"WITH HEART TO GOD AND HAND TO MAN"

A Tribute from TIME MAGAZINE, Issue of Dec. 26, 1949

"The sound of the bells was a more than abstract symbol of the Army's obedience to Christ's command. Only a few avowed Christians have tried to follow one of Christ's injunctions so literally. On the Mount of Olives, the Saviour had preached: 'I was a stranger, and ye took me in . . . naked, and ye clothed me . . . In prison and ye came unto me . . . Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me.'

"The Salvation Army is a religion without elaborate liturgy or complicated creed. Its theology is the simplest practice of Christianity. It proceeds on the down-to-earth theory that Christ gave clear instructions on what to do about the degraded, the abandoned and the poor. And so it has fought—with its heart to God and its hand to man."

Objectives OF THE "ARMY'S CHRISTMAS AND WINTER APPEAL."

To Provide:

(a) A Christmas treat for the poor and needy.

(b) Assistance to poor families and persons during the winter and other periods of difficulty and distress.

GIVE ALL YOU CAN

Gifts

Individual gifts of fruit and chocolate are made up and distributed to elderly men and women in hospitals and institutions through The Salvation Army's League of Mercy—a group of workers especially organized for such acts of mercy. It is estimated that approximately 700 such gifts will be given this year.

Disbursement of Funds:

All monies received from the Kettles are deposited with the Army's official bankers and the same placed to the credit of a special account designated "The Salvation Army Welfare Fund Account." This account is administered by a board of five Salvation Army officers.

Duplication

Each deserving case is reported to the confidential exchange operating in Edmonton for clearing to eliminate possibility of duplication. Each case is then investigated and information gathered as to the circumstances, number in family, etc.

Jasper Place Hot On Trail Of Its Own 'Miracle Mile'

Jasper Place moved another step last night in its endeavor to obtain a "Miracle Mile" project.

Heartened by a letter received from New York's First New Amsterdam Corporation last week, the west-end town passed a motion at its regular weekly meeting to communicate with S. H. McCuaig, KC, Edmonton attorney for the New York group, regarding the plan.

The communication, according to Mayor J. M. Stone, will ask the New York group to "give more details about possible building of a civic centre in Jasper Place."

Jasper Place council last week received a letter from the New York group requesting more details about possible locations for construction of a civic centre in the town.

MADE WEEKS AGO

The letter came in answer to a proposal made several weeks ago by Jasper Place council.

"Miracle Mile" proposal was narrowly defeated by Edmonton voters in a plebiscite, Nov. 1.

Commenting on the "Miracle Mile" negotiations so far, Mayor Stone stated:

"The whole council is unanimous that this won't be a great thing for Jasper Place, and we are going all out to have this plan completed, if at all possible."

Council also decided to address a letter to the Metropolitan Town Planning Commission regarding proposal for a "ring road" around dmonton's outskirts.

MORE DETAILS

Although in favor of the road, the council wants more details about the road, particularly as to how it would affect Jasper Place's western boundary, 170 street, on which the road is scheduled to be built.

Secretary-treasurer W. F. Broadstock was asked to communicate with Edmonton authorities to set a date for further discussions on Jasper Place's sewage and water plans.

In an earlier meeting with Mayor Sidney Parsons and the city commissioners, a plan to link the city's sewage mains with Jasper Place mains was considered.

Council passed a motion voting $100 to Jasper Place Home and School Association toward Christmas funds for needy children of the community.

Predatory Animals Campaign Slated

Government Ups Supplies Of Ammunition, Cyanide Guns

Supplies of free ammunition and cyanide guns used by government game and forestry officials are being increased in an effort to combat predatory animals.

Reports of the prevalence of timber wolves and cougars in several areas result in the government action.

Game branch officials said today forestry and game officials are being supplied with whatever ammunition they need to shoot down cougars and wolves in isolated areas.

Cyanide guns, particularly useful against timber wolves are also being supplied in increased quantity to officials of the timber and forestry officials in areas known to be frequented by the wolves.

ORDERED TO DESTROY

Registered trappers are also being instructed to destroy timber wolves wherever possible.

Under the Game Act, trapline licences can be refused to registered trappers who fail to destroy wolves in the area of their traplines.

The $15 bounty for cougars and the $12 bounty for timber wolves is being continued this year.

Last year the government paid bounties on 744 wolves and 35 cougars. In the previous year, bounties were paid for 850 wolves and 50 cougars, and in the 1947-48 season bounties were paid on 1,143 wolves and 59 cougars.

Spirit of Christmas On Increase In City

Spirit of Christmas is gaining momentum in Edmonton.

Several civic and welfare organizations sponsored parties throughout the city yesterday and last night.

At Canadian National Institute for the Blind, 120 street and Jasper avenue, the world of many city blind people was made brighter by that group's 20th annual Christmas dinner.

Christmas time is family time

The joyous family reunion is a tradition in our Canadian celebration of Christmas. The gaily decorated Christmas tree, loaded with gifts . . . the holly wreaths . . . the laughter and excitement . . . the tantalizing aroma that heralds the Christmas dinner . . . all affirm that Christmas time is family time.

During the past year Calvert has paid tribute to the various racial groups which comprise the great Canadian Family. At this Christmas season of happy family gatherings we wish to salute all Canadian families with the words written by Calvert himself over three hundred years ago: "May all happiness attend you".

ON SNORING

All old athletes suffer from an occupational ailment known as "snoring." Some sedentary non-athletic folk snore in bed because they persist in sleeping on their backs. However, old athletes are catch-as-catch-can snorers who can snore happily in a laundry-hamper or a telephone booth.

Old athletes attribute their snoring to a variety of causes. For instance, your correspondent, who is a veteran of such athletic pastimes as stud-poker, blames his snoring on his sub-conscious dreams which invariably are violent and exhausting.

For instance, the other night, we were dreaming of playing a professional football game for the Los Angeles Rams against the Chicago Bears.

We were having another of our Big Days in that particular game. We were substituting for Bob Waterfield at quarterback and, when Waterfield was injured in the first quarter, the coach sent us into the game. If you'll pardon a bit of self-adulation, we ran roughshod over the Bears.

We went off-tackle on the first play, and cross-stepping cleverly, completely baffled the secondary-defence. We went 75 yards to score with the entire Bear team pursuing us, cursing and snarling.

Right after that, we skirted the left end, danced down the sideline and made another 85 yards for a touchdown. The Bear safety man had a good shot at us on the 15 yard line but we gave him a hip and took it away and went the rest of the way unmolested.

As you can imagine, we were rather tired after those two long runs and we must have been snoring impressively.

We would have been okay but, in the same dream, we elected to play hockey for Montreal Canadiens against Boston Bruins. (It was a bad night for the bear family.) We had scored two goals when The Old Battle-Axe who occupies the next bed leaned over and clobbered us with a pillow-case stuffed with gravel.

We don't claim that we're ready for the championship ranks of snorers yet. After all, we've been at it for only a few years—since the time that our hair disappeared over the horizon and our sideburns began to clatter like a set of castinets.

The all-time, free-wheeling, non-skid champion of all the snorers whom we have encountered was an Italian first-baseman named Atheo Lazaretti who turned up one year at the spring-training camp of the Vancouver Capilanos in Sunnyside, Washington.

Lazaretti was built along the lines of a stalk of spaghetti and, although he fielded his position with the grace of the late Hal Chase, he couldn't hit a bull on the buttocks with a bucket of buckshot. He didn't wave the bat—the bat waved him.

On our first night in camp, the players retired about 11 o'clock to their rooms in the little hotel. Fifteen minutes after retiring, the slender Lazaretti began to demonstrate his remarkable talents as a snorer.

As Lazaretti emitted his first blast, the good citizens of Sunnyside leaped from their beds and reached for their clothes, under the impression that someone had touched off the fire-alarm siren in the tower of the town hall. Joe Dalley, a pitcher who habitually chewed tobacco in bed, swallowed his chaw in the excitement.

Then, Lazaretti settled down and gave a display of his vituosity and versatility. He snored an aria from Il Trovatore and the overture from William Tell.

We'll never forget the night as we looked down from a hotel window. The excessively patriotic citizens of Sunnyside were standing in the streets below Lazaretti's window—standing at attention with chauvinistic tears streaming down their cheeks as Lazaretti snored his way through a symphonic arrangement of "The Star Spangled Banner."

If you'll pardon the intrusion of a personal problem, our own snoring has brought us relaxation but has occasioned some mild domestic bickering. Last summer, when we had a cottage on a wooded lake, the old Battle-Axe moved out of the cottage, built herself a tree-house and, packing her blankets on her shoulders each night, would climb up to nest with the squirrels, birds and porcupines.

We fell that any woman has the inalienable right to chatter with birds and squirrels but we draw the line at setting up light housekeeping with porcupines.

The 1951 National Health Week in Canada, Feb. 4-10, is the seventh annual observance of the week.

BUSIEST man at Gardens last night as Flyers pushed Stampeders around for 6-2 triumph was Calgary goalie, Russ Dertell, shown down on ice with teammates and opponents grouped round. Others in picture are, from left, Flyers' Eddie Cutts, Sid Finney, Fred Smitten (bent over, putting stick to rebound), Archie Scott and Roy Heximer (9), Flyers' Steve Latoski and Don Clarke, Calgary, both partially hidden by Heximer, complete group. P.S. Smitten failed to score this time.

FOR GEORGE DUNN

Boxing Combine Seeks Top Man

By Dick Beddoes

The boxing promoting combine of Jack Berry-Arnold Dickson-Frank Cockrall were on the prowl yesterday for another headline pugilist for 'their boy', George Dunn.

But they were still looking last night after getting telephone calls out to various sections of the country.

Among those the local promoters would like for a bout with Dunn here early in the new year are Carlos Chaves from San Francisco, Allan McFater of Toronto or Lil Arthur King, formerly of Toronto, but now fighting out of Philadelphia.

Chavez has been rated as high as fourth in the lightweight division. However, he was beaten recently by Joey Velez, the Spokane scrapper who lost a 10-round decision to Dunn here last Saturday.

McFater is regarded as one of this country's top lighties, although not necessarily the outstanding one. King undoubtedly rates ahead of him, as does Solly (Toronto) Cantor, Dick (Halifax) Howard and Armand (Montreal) Savoie.

It is extremely doubtful if King could be brought here without somebody losing considerable currency. For he is one of the top men in the world's lightweight bracket and as such he comes pretty high.

And up till now the attendance to boxing cards here hasn't justified the importation of outstanding talent.

King holds a decision over Dunn, although it was not a convincing one according to all reports.

Meanwhile, a lot of folks who viewed the Velez-Dunn fisticuffing of last Saturday are asking what is wrong with a re-match. They were locked closer than your next breath over most of the route, and provided fight fans with enough entertainment to send them home happy.

Improved Oil Kings Ready for Lions

When Scotty Munro's Crow's Nest Pass Lions take to the ice against Oil Kings at the Gardens Thursday, the visitors will find the locals a greatly improved squad.

Oil Kings, who turned in their first win by downing Crow's Nest Pass 6-4 here, are confident they can hold their own against any WCJHL team now.

Coach Morey Rimstad's Oilers will be gunning for their fourth straight win Thursday night.

Oil Kings' most impressive showing to date was their 6-2 win over Calgary Buffaloes, WCJHL cellar-dwellers, in Didsbury, last Friday.

Buffs played a much better game than their position at the bottom of the league indicates.

Edmonton's forward lines are all presently clicking and goalie

Buddy Noon is playing well.

Bruce Dickson, Oil King captain, and Russ Kowalchuk are top goal-getters for Rimstad's crew. Dickson is top point-getter for Oil Kings, scoring 11 points in seven games played to date.

Following is the Oil Kings' scoring:

Canucks Lose to Seattle, Blow Chance Equal Record

VANCOUVER, Dec. 19—(CP)—Vancouver Canucks' hope of sharing a chunk of Pacific Coast Hockey league fame—playing 11 straight games without a defeat—has been decisively squashed by Seattle Ironmen.

The Ironmen are racking up quite an undefeated streak of their own in a sustained fight to scramble out of the PCHL pit, where they were entombed when the season started.

Vancouver had gone 10 games without a loss when they tangled Sunday night at Seattle with the Ironers. Seattle won 5-3.

Eleven games without a loss is the league record set two years ago by New Westminster Royals.

The win stretched Seattle's unbeaten streak on home ice to seven games. In three end-of-the-week games the Ironmen got two draws and one win.

Watching this from high above, but not with detachment, were the Royals, still in top place but not as secure as they were earlier in the season. "Babe" Pratt's Royals and Ironmen battled to a 2-2 draw Saturday night.

While Seattle was hammering Vancouver, Victoria Cougars moved into a fourth-place tie with Canucks by tying the second-place Portland Eagles 3-3.

New Westminster played high-grade hockey throughout the week and the latest standings show the Royals with a five-point lead over Portland. Tacoma Rockets follow closely, two points behind the margin.

Tacoma shut out Portland 2-0 Saturday for goalie Doug Stevenson's second whitewashing chore of the season. The victory marked the fifth time in six starts the Rockets have levelled Portland.

FAN FARE

Flyers Hogtie Stamps 6-2 For 19th Win

FLYERS ROLL

Dertell Has Rough Night

By STAN MOHER
(Sports Editor)

Stampeder goalie Russ Dertell had himself "A Night' as the southern Albertans got their lumps 6-2 from Flyers. However, it wasn't the kind of 'Night' where the fans dig down for presents and the like.

Dertell just couldn't do anything right, it seemed. He didn't even look good stopping the puck. Only wretched luck around the Calgary cage kept Flyers from making it 10 goals.

To top it off the Stamp netminder had to vacate the premises for a time in the third period while three stitches were taken in a cut near his left eye. A carelessly wielded stick did the damage.

Bob Gilhooly and Flyers' Ray Barry 'chose each other' all through the piece. They clashed frequently along the boards or in front of Dertell . . . Hexiner's second goal, where he fanned the Stamp goalie with a low 20-footer, after taking a risk-wide relay from Fred Smitten, was the most stylish effort of the contest.

Impartial observers (any of the Flyer followers should live so long) had to like Wilder's second marker, off Sid Finney's precision pass through the skates of Mac Colville.

Veteran winger Norm Larson, whose pair of goals in the late going scuttled Flyers at Calgary Saturday night, didn't get loose too often this time . . . Brent Macnab brought Colin Kilburn down with a genuine 'bear-hug' to draw his second trip to the penalty box.

Which led one pale imitation of Bob Hope to remark: "That Macnab's in the wrong building. He should be across the road with the rasslers."

Steve Latoski, while he didn't figure in the scoring, was one of the best performers out there . . . The Barry-Kilburn-Witiuk line of Flyers got caught out of the play frequently . . . Last night Witiuk just wanted to skate . . . skate . . . skate, with no seeming purpose in mind.

At that this line clicked for one of the better goals, with Kilburn the marksman after Witiuk and Barry had pulled the Stamp defence out of position.

Heximer, Wilder and Latoski earned the Three Stars, with Smitten just a whisker away . . . Stamp defenceman Don Clarke, the 'chargingest' shock-trooper in the loop. He rocked hefty Eddie Cutts several times.

Benched-ice Don Anderson, Calgary winger, came close to being seriously injured when he rammed into the crossbar atop the Flyer goal late in the third period. He appeared to be helped on his way by a 'slight' shove from the aforementioned Mr. Cutts.

Julian Sawchuk, Stamp defenceman, is on the sidelines with a bad leg . . . It's rumored 'Butch' McDonald, Calgary Flyer-turned-centre Doug Cairns back to the game with an offer of $2,000 to finish the season . . . That could be the tipoff that McDonald is going to using leftwinger Dunc Grant and defenceman Jack Taggart in centre-ice roles, wants to move Grant and Taggart back where they belong.

Baseball operator Jawn Ducey was a press-box visitor . . . Calgary sportscaster Ken Foss aired the contest . . . The puck rolled and bounced a lot . . . Smitten scored off a short backhander.

Russ Dertell originally quit his job with an oil company when the management refused to pay him while he was travelling with Stampeders.

Ray Frederick, who is a fastball first-baseman in the summer months, looked like anything but while permitting Wilder's high drive to hit the strings for Stamps' first goal . . . The crowd was 'cheering' every Dertell save at the finish.

Next stop for Flyers—Regina, tomorrow night.

Leduc Plans Bonspiel

LEDUC, Dec. 19.—The annual Leduc Curling Club bonspiel will be held February 13-15, it was announced here yesterday.

The open 'spiel offers a good prize list for all entries.

If it was revenge Flyers were after for that 2-1 setback suffered in Calgary Saturday night, they got it in spades at the Gardens last night.

While racking up their 19th win of the Western Canada Hockey league campaign, manager Frank Currie's hirelings barely got up a sweat while brushing off Stampeders 6-2.

As an indication of the king-size edge enjoyed by Flyers over most of the route they outshot Stampeders 24-5 in the first two periods.

In the second frame, for instance, Ray Frederick, in the Edmonton goal, turned aside ONE shot. Question is: How futile can you be?

The Cowboys got to kickin' and scratchin' a little in the third period, when they outscored the

Dertell Had Bad Night

Upwards of 6,500 were in the pews.

Most of them got the surprise of their lives when Russ Dertell, usually a 14-carat performer in the Stampeder nets, looked like something off the Jewelry counter of the Five and Dime store. In fact he looked like the shakiest kind of rookie might. At least half the Flyer goals bore that "soft" label.

Watt got one of the cheap ones, at 9:42 of the first period, and the locals were off to the Camptown races.

Flyers Go Ahead 5-0

Smitten and Heximer ran the Flyer margin to 5-0 as Stamps showed no ability to keep their opponents under control.

As mentioned, Wilder got unwound long enough in the last period to blink the red light on two occasions, with Kilburn, the league's Mr. Big in the point parade, getting one back for the victors.

Game was a rough and ready affair, despite the fact that referees Al Bozak and Maurice Walsh settled for dishing out a mere seven penalties, including one to netminder Dertell.

Dertell was caught with his spud pads down while unceremoniously dumping Kilburn to the freeze in the second period.

Stylish Sid Finney served Dertell's "time."

Finney broke a two-way deadlock with Saskatoon's "Chuck" McCullough for second place in the scoring race by assisting on both Calgary goals.

Open Letter to . . .

Yogi Berra, catcher, New York Yankees: It was with considerable satisfaction—and no little surprise—that I read where your face had been listed as "among the 10 most stimulating faces in the United States."

Specifically, yours was adjudged "the most down to earth face" in the 48 states and the territories of Alaska and Hawaii.

BERRA

You've no idea how comforting it is for fellows like myself to realize that one doesn't have to be a Montgomery Clift or Alan Ladd to get by.

Still Yogi, I have an idea that if you were a .200 hitter, instead of a guy who happens to be able to clout the long ball, that face doesn't count for nearly so much at contest time.

Bet Clarence (Cuddles) Marshall, who used to pitch to you when he was with the Yankees, won't know what to think about your being classed with Ava Gardner, Liz Taylor and the rest of 'The Ten'.

Cuddles is SUCH a good looking guy, or do you think so, Yogi?

Doug Grimston, president Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, New Westminster, B.C.: Now that the CAHA has seen fit to rule in favor of Regina Pats in the matter whether Dudo' Edmundson should stay on in Regina, or return to Edmonton, it would seem only fair that you grant goalkeeper Buddy Noon a transfer from Medicine Hat Tigers to Edmonton Oil Kings.

Buddy's home is in Edmonton. He's paying with the Oil Kings, has no intention of returning to the 'Hat.

Pats get Edmundson. Oil Kings get Noon.

And Jim Christiansen, sponsor of Oil Kings, gets happy again.

Cecil (Tiger) Goldstick, trainer Flyer hockey club: Recently Mr. Doug Hardy, who has trained a team or two in his time, was credited with several snide remarks, beamed in your direction.

One thing he said was that if you "ever learned to tape a shoulder" he might consider offering you the position of trainer with Marshall-Wells team, which Hardy now coaches.

For your part I understand you have been heard to refer to Mr. Hardy as "a busher." This is hardly complimentary, Cece, but under the circumstances you can hardly be blamed.

Why don't you guys get together? Let Mr. Hardy show you how to tape a shoulder, you do something about taking the "bush" out of him.

Wouldn't that solve it, Cece?

P.S. How's your sciatic nerve . . . the one you were limping on last time we saw you?

Mr. Al Pickard, president Western Canada Hockey league, Regina: When are you going to do something about those players who try to strongarm the referees into giving them an assist everytime a goal is scored?

The scoring race is tightening in the WCHL. Let's hope it's decided on merit, not on the basis of fast-talking.

P.S. You should have seen the assist Calgary's Sid Finney got on one goal here at the Gardens last night. Even with Christmas in the offing, it wasn't justified.

MORTONS WIN

Eagles Victors In Cage Test

Coach Bill Neil's McKinnon's Eagles staged a last quarter splurge to eke out a 40-37 win over Sharum's in a thrilling Junior Men's Basketball league fixture played at Garneau gym last night.

Mortons, coached by Johnny Retallack, downed Walk-Rites 37-22 in the first half of the twin-bill to jump into a third-place tie in the Senior Ladies' Basketball league standings with their victims.

Sharums held a comfortable lead in the Junior Men's contest until Eagles started rolling late in the final frame.

Led by lithe Jimmy (Flea) Fraser and big Bob Leah, Eagles outscored Sharums 17-5 for the margin of victory. Fraser and Leah paced Eagles, each scoring eight points, most of them in the final frame.

Game was a heartbreaker for Don MacLean's Sharums, who have lost their last two games by a single point.

Vance Leavitt and George Stickle of Sharums were high point-getters. Both netted nine points. Terry Meinychuk, also of Sharums, had eight.

Only four members of Mortons hit the score sheet, but that was enough to outscore the Bill Mayson-coached Walk-Rites. Sylvia Grant (11) and Denise Calloway (10) led the way for the winners.

Jean Riddell topped the 'Biters with four field goals.

EARL GRAHAM
. . . pinch-hitter.

SSAA Fetes Youngsters

By Dick Beddoes

Members of the South Side Athletic Association took over the Rainbow ballroom last night to throw their annual Christmas party for the boys of the organization.

And the kids—some 250 of 'em—had themselves a time. For the occasion marks the only time during the year that the young athletes comprising South Side's hockey, baseball, fastball, football and soccer teams have the opportunity to gather under one roof.

They made the most of it.

Earl Graham, past-president of the SSAA, did a fine job pinch-hitting in the master-of-ceremonies role for Ted West, current chief of the association.

Included on the agenda were short messages of greeting from Jack Reilly of the Recreation Commission and Dick Beddoes, Bulletin sports writer.

Jack Jones, sometimes referred to as the poor man's John Charles Thomas, led the gathering in a medley of songs. Jones flitted from the rousing verse of the "Old Grey Mare" to the reverent strains of "Silent Night" with the ease of a Welsh baritone.

Jones' versatile vocal cords are not so hard to explain at that, since he first saw the light of day in the town of Wales.

The youngsters, ranging in age from 10 to 16, got a tremendous bell out of a magician's act which occupied the centre stage for a half hour. The hockey players among them were especially interested in the hat trick, a stunt they have all tried to pull off at one time or another.

A spirited bingo session, followed by considerable to drink and eat at the lunch counter, wound up the Christmas shindig.

Included among those assisting in the success of the show were Wally Pollock, Mike Panchyshyn, Bob Graham, Christy Cooney, Fred Wagy, Harvey (Red) Turner, Ed King, Lex Yerxa, Mike Dunn and Ed Bussiere.

And everybody had, you'll pardon the expression, a heck of a time.

Al Mills Will Have His Fans Tonight

Al (Mr. Murder) Mills is probably the most 'despised' rassler ever to grapple in Edmonton, but the Camrose mauler is not without his fans.

When Mills takes on popular Whisper Billy Watson of Toronto in the main event of promoter Al Oeming's rasslin' card at the Stock Pavilion tonight, some 30 cars carrying fans will leave Camrose to witness the bout.

The Camrose fans will all be on Mills' side as he attempts to defend his Canadian heavyweight 'title.'

Another 'championship' battle will see Montreal's Paul Lortie put his light-heavyweight belt on the line in a semi-wattup bout with Ivan Kamaroff.

Jimmy Dryden's Christmas stocking, already crammed to overflowing, will be swelled further during the Yuletide season.

In charge of the 'hop' are Johnny Young and Mike O'Neil, president and treasurer of the McCauley Teen organization.

Admission prices are 50 cents for lone wolves and 75 cents for couples.

Bendzera Is Top Sniper

Sharum's rookie forward, Nick Bendzera, continues to set the pace in the Junior Men's Basketball league scoring race but his margin now is only a single point.

According to statistics compiled by the Bulletin, Bendzera has tallied 63 points in six games for the cellar-dwelling Sharum cagers.

McKinnon's Eagles' sophomore star, Jimmy (Flea) Fraser, is hot on Bendzera's trail with 62 points. Fraser, who at 5'8" is one of the smallest players in the league, tallied eight points as Eagles downed Sharums 40-37 at Garneau last night.

Bob Kramer Heads 'Rider Executive

REGINA, Dec. 19—(CP)—Robert A. (Bob) Kramer has been elected president of the Saskatchewan Roughriders football club, succeeding Don MacDonald, who resigned last month.

A Regina business man, Kramer was named to office for the 1951 season at the club's annual meeting here Sunday. He formerly sponsored basketball and junior baseball teams in the city.

A new constitution was drawn up, calling for a 14-man executive, instead of the four or five in previous years.

The club also formed active and associated memberships. Each has one vote. The associate members will be those who participate in the booster or quarterback clubs. They hold no vote.

Elected vice-president was Dr. Beattie Martin.

Directors are Gordon Barber, J. G. Sangster, Harold Crittenden, Morris Wessel and Sam Taylor.

CHARLES REPORTS TO 'MOM'

Comiskeys a United Front Over Firing of Chandler

CHICAGO, Dec. 19—(AP)—The Comiskey clan won't switch the vote youthful Chuck Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox presumably cast against re-hiring A. B. Chandler as commissioner of baseball.

Comiskey, 24, who returned from St. Petersburg, Fla., Wednesday, said he conferred immediately with his mother, Mrs. Grace R. Comiskey, club president, over reported discrepancy on the way the White Sox felt about Chandler's surprise firing.

Mrs. Comiskey last week-end was credited with saying the White Sox would back Chandler in any new ballot on the subject. Charles was believed to have joined the anti-Chandler faction in the voting at St. Petersburg. About the family chat, vice-president Comiskey said:

"I told her how I voted and I gave my reasons. Mother agreed I had done the right thing and my vote stands as it is. I have told nobody else, not even Frank Lane (Sox general manager), how I voted."

"Mother did not understand that the matter of Chandler's contract was something that had to be determined at the meeting in St. Petersburg," Comiskey continued.

"I have said before and I say again that the discussions about Chandler in the meeting were frank and the argument solid."

Some Chicago baseball writers reasoned that if Comiskey voted for Chandler's retention, he would have been quick to say so in the face of the hub-bub that followed the surprise ballot.

Mrs. Comiskey could not be reached immediately after her conference with Charles.

Chandler needed at least 12 approving votes for renewal of his $65,000 yearly contract. He got nine.

TOMMY HENRICH CALLS IT A DAY

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Tommy Henrich, a member of the New York Yankees since 1937 and one of baseball's most feared batsmen, decided to hang up his glove yesterday rather than play on an injured knee.

He accepted a job on the coaching staff of the world champions.

Tommy, known as "Old Reliable" for his timely hitting and slick play in right field and at first base, played little last season and was taken off the eligible list for the World Series between Yanks and Philadelphia Phillies.

Nice Gift for Granny

Dear Mr. DeLong:-

Every day as I read your column I notice you pass out orchids to deserving people. I would like you to pass out a very special orchid to my Granny, Mrs. R. Kuhn, 326 Alberta Block.

Granny can never see a little child go without some small thing which she can give.

A few nights ago Granny read about a little Indian girl who had only one book to read.

So even though she had a long Christmas list and very little money she found enough to buy several books to send to the little girl.

Another time she was bringing my little brother a popsicle home from the store when she saw a shabbily dressed little girl who looked as though she would really enjoy one, so Granny gave half the popsicle to the little girl.

Lynette McCarthy,
Age 13,
9514-104 street.

P.S. As a special Christmas gift to my Granny, please put this in your column.

★ ★ ★ ★

This Christmas business is sure expanding. Even old Santa Claus has been hit. He's had to put on an extra pair of reindeer, I found this out through a Yule card received the other day. It showed Santa and his sleigh swooping over the chimney tops, drawn by 10 reindeer.

Just too much business in 1950 for this "eight tiny reindeer," I guess.

★ ★ ★ ★

It couldn't have happened to a better guy: I mean appointment of Lou Davies as operating manager for the R. Jame Speers racing corp.

★ ★ ★ ★

I almost hate to add to the burden of Edmonton postmen this week. Even orchids might make those Christmas bags heavier but I'm handing them out to all mail carriers just the same.

★ ★ ★ ★

Mrs. A. Raskin of 12226-Jasper Avenue, suggests people buy Christmas seals with money they usually spend for Christmas cards and stamps.

Alberta Miners Ask Across Board Boost

Vote Expected Friday On 80-Cent Increase

A wage increase, across the board, of 80 cents a day is being suggested to miners in Alberta coal fields and will be voted on Friday.

A two-year agreement was signed this February, and was to last until February 1952. The new agreement has apparently been reached by officials of the United Mine Workers of America and bituminous and domestic coal operators, subject to approval by the mine membership.

It would mean a wage increase from $8.87 a day for mine and motormen, to $13.29 for higher classifications. Contract miners would receive an additional 80 cents a day and their minimum wage would also be increased from $10.09 to $11.75, in bituminous fields.

SLIGHTLY DIFFERENT

The domestic coal mines' wages rates are slightly different. The new rates will call for wages from $10.59 to $11.54 a day. The bituminous mines employ about 3,000 men and the domestics about 3,500 in western Canada.

There was no comment from V.A. Cooney, secretary of the domestic coal operators of Western Canada; W. C. Whittaker, secretary, Western Canada bituminous coal operators, or Angus Morrison, secretary District 18 United Mine Workers of Alberta.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19—(AP)—What do bank robbers do with the money they rob from banks?

Why, they put it in the bank.

North Town To Try County System In '51

Grande Prairie will adopt the contentious county system of local government in the new year.

Provincial authorities reported yesterday the northern town counted voted 10-2 in favor of bringing its municipal council, school and hospital boards under a single "county council."

DEADLINE

The deadline for applications to the government is December 31. Vulcan is another locality which has filed an application.

School authorities have been particularly vocal in protesting the system which they claimed was centralization. They said it would work against the best interest of school administration. The government defended it as a system of economy.

BARRHEAD, Dec. 19—Meeting of the ratepayers of sub-division four of Barrhead School Division came up with a surprise when William Sutherland, the sitting member, was not nominated for re-election and Adolph Cerezke went in by acclamation.

CALGARY, Dec. 19—The City of Calgary so far has received flood claims totalling almost $19,000, Mayor Don MacKay revealed yesterday.

The claims were filed by 35 parties who suffered damages to property when the Bow river overflowed its banks in East Calgary earlier this month.

The river forced 3,000 persons from their homes, and caused damages estimated at half a million dollars.

Audience, Artists Share Honors at Concert Here

Honors were equally divided between artists and audience at the Rotary Club Carol Concert in McDougall United Church last night.

Between them, they packed the large hall to pay in song their tribute to the spirit of Christmas.

TEN CHOIRS

A large Christmas scene backdrop, imaginatively painted in deep blues and purples, outlined the singers of ten choirs as they mounted the platform in turn to render their carol selections. As each third part of the program was completed, the audience joined in community singing of the carols led by master of ceremonies Harold Fazackerley.

In the large high-roofed hall, the effect of these massed voices was moving to a degree which many professional concert artists have failed to achieve.

Comparisons between the choirs would be invidious as they all offered their praise to Jesus with equal devotion.

The accompanying organist last night was H. Wild. Choirs heard were the First Baptist Senior and Youth Choirs; Edmonton College Kindergarten Carol Singers; Holy Trinity Church Choir; Highlands Public School, Grade seven choir; First Presbyterian Church Choir; Mount Carmel School—Grade seven and eight; Woodward's Choral Society; Highlands United Junior Girls' Choir and St. John's Ukrainian Orthodox Church Choir.

Tonight, organist P. Delicate will accompany the choirs of Edmonton Youth Chorus, Robertson United Church, Spruce Avenue Public School, Eastwood United Church, Northside Wolf Cubs, Erskine United Church — junior and senior choirs, Edmonton Choral Society, and Salvation Army Citadel Songster Brigade.

LIBRARIAN'S WAGE INCREASED TO $4,900

Salary of librarian Hugh C. Gourlay was raised last night from $4,620 a year to $4,900 by the Library Board.

It is retroactive to January 1.

The action was delayed from last month's board meeting until city council had decided on raises for civic superintendents.

Mr. Gourlay was asked several times by board members whether he would prefer to have a "fixed amount" or an initial salary with four increments to a maximum. He said he'd rather have the fixed amount to start with, and the board complied.

Tender of Western Canada Subscription Agencies Ltd. of $188.20 for supplying periodicals to the South Side branch library during 1951 was accepted.

The board voted $150 for a staff party to be held either at Christmas or New Years, as the committee in charge decides.

Mr. Kelly had been employed at the Mount Royal Hotel since 1928, and following the death of Frank Dillon in 1949, took over his duties as manager.

Legion Reiterates Charges On Conditions In Hospital

Edmonton General Hospital is more concerned with financial profits than with welfare of its patients.

"I am making that definite charge," Executive Secretary W. J. Williams, of Montgomery branch, Canadian Legion, said.

Williams' statement brought a denial from hospital officials.

"It's not true. I don't know what he's trying to do," said the Sister Superior of the General Hospital.

DENIAL

She denied statements made at Sunday's meeting of the Montgomery branch, that Tb. ward food and service conditions are so bad that federal and provincial governments should be asked to stop putting veterans in the ward.

"The Sister Superior is evidently not acquainted with conditions in the hospital," said Mr. Williams. "While I took no part in Sunday's discussion, I have been around the hospital a number of times and know that the statements made Sunday are true."

Conditions at the General's Tb. ward were so bad in 1945 that the Legion recommended that all veterans be moved out, and placed in Camsell hospital, said Mr. Williams.

Since then, only veterans "without entitlement"—those for whom the federal government refuses to accept responsibility — and war brides have been placed in the General under the province's free Tb. treatment scheme, he explained.

ACTION ASKED

"And the sooner the provincial government takes not only Tb. but all other patients out of the General, the better it will be for the patients," Williams said.

The Sister Superior said the menu is a "wholesome one," which "we all eat." She said all statements about poor food conditions are "very wrong. Of course we know food can't always be 100 per cent."

"The Legion has never contacted the hospital administration about any complaints," she said.

"I don't see a thing good coming from their Sunday statements, because a number of people will believe them."

SHOPPING GUIDE

Shopping a Menace 'Cause of Rudeness

By Bea Thrifty

Good King Wenceslas looked out at a cool, cruel world a couple of thousand years ago and we peasants are looking out on a colder, cruel-er world right now.

And basis for my harsh statement is conduct of crowds in the Christmas shopping rush.

Land o' Goshen . . . but people are rude and rowdy.

* * *

Small children were stamped upon, oldsters were pushed and pulled, parcel-laden shoppers rammed their way through jam-packed shops with all the graciousness of a do-or-die football tackler.

These days are a challenge and a trial . . .

Is we is or is we ain't harbingers of the Yuletide spirit . . . thinking first of our fellow man . . . spreading joy in our paths of life?

* * *

You answer that one fellow shopper . . .

* * *

Well now that I've dealt that snide little something out to whom it may concern let's take a deep breath and have another whack at this last-minute (if you'll pardon the expression) shopping.

* * *

"Tis a wise thing indeed for women to give their men something to help them indulge their favorite hobby this Christmas whether it be collecting cartoons or automobile accessories.

This is a 99 per cent rate of improvement on the usual array of ties 'n socks 'n such.

* * *

And the same applies to the gals who've sifted their interests beyond the gift of writing paper or dusting powder.

Why not give the gal of the house something that ties in with her favorite hobby.

Perhaps she fancies herself a bit of an artist.

* * *

Or maybe she's been toying with the idea of creating shellcraft pretties. There are innumerable sets of needlecraft patterns and apparatus to be bought on advise of friend or dependable clerk.

* * *

If her hobby happens to be sewing . . . what could be more thoughtful than to give her something for her needle-workshop corner?

If she travels or goes daily into the business world a handy small-fitted sewing kit sells at $1.50 upward for her purse or suitcase. These include tiny scissors, needles, thread, thimble 'n such.

* * *

And for sock-stuffers there's always the gay-colored plastic spool holders and pin dispenser, knitting needle gages and wool-measuring charts.

And there's a right smart sewing instruction book at a $3.50 price listing for the gal who's just delved into the mysteries of the bias binding and button-holer.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS

High School Girl Not Yet at Marrying Age

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Do you think that when a girl finishes high school she should get married or go to work if she does not have a chance to go to college?

Don't you think a girl should support herself before marriage so that when she does get married she will know the value of a dollar?

TWO GIRLS

Answer: No girl of 17 or 18 knows about men to pick out a husband. She doesn't know enough about herself to know what she wants in a husband. She doesn't even know what she is going to be herself when she grows up. Marriage is risky enough, at best, without taking any long shots on the future.

LEARN HOUSEKEEPING

Before going into it a girl should learn how to cook and market and be a good housekeeper. That takes time and experience.

And it takes time for a girl to get over childishness and to learn how to be reasonable and philosophic about things. So, you see, it is folly for a girl to jump into matrimony before she is ready for it.

No one really escapes criticism, and the more eminent one is the more criticism may be expected.

Criticism in its highest sense means trying to learn the best that is known and thought in the world and measuring things by that standard.

DESK WORK may lead to fatigue at the back of the neck. Josephine Lowman suggests some exercise and massage to relieve it.

WHY GROW OLD

Pain in the Neck May Mean Need for Relaxation

By Josephine Lowman

Many people experience aching fatigue at the back of the neck.

Sometimes this is due to poor posture or to work which causes us to hold our head in a certain position for long periods of time. More often, however, our nervous systems seem to be warning us of too much complexity and too little rest.

CLOSE WORK TENSION

I have given this exercise before in this column but business women have found it to be so helpful that I am going to repeat today. Housewives find it restful after a day of sewing too.

Stand erect. Let your arms hang at your sides. Lift both shoulders and rotate them backward, making circles—arms still hanging. Now correlate the head motion with this. As your shoulders move back, drop your head forward. As your shoulders move forward-upward, lower your head backward. You will soon learn to do this with a rhythm which gives you a wonderful massage.

If you would like to have my leaflet which gives you some special exercises and suggestions for this trouble send a stamped, self addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 18, "Your Stiff Neck." Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Stopped Thumb-Sucking By Lying to Her Child

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

This boy of six years was lured to end his thumb-sucking by the connivance of the mother and the doctor. The mother feels that this was a good way to manage it.

She writes: "My boy was and is a much loved child and an only. He started thumb-sucking when his teeth began to bother him. We thought it soothed his irritated gums and we let him continue the habit. It has gone on for six years.

"I felt sick about this as I felt he would be teased about this at school. So I sought the aid of my doctor and this is what he did.

BANDAGE

"At the time he had his booster shots for whooping cough the doctor looked at his thumb, 'Sonny,' he said, 'we are going to have to do something about this thumb, if it is ever to be a perfect one. I am going to bandage it and every morning your mother will wash it in oil, as we don't want water to touch it.'

"My boy understood perfectly. We bought a rubber stall and kept it over the bandage. In a month the doctor looked at it again and said he must still be careful not to get saliva on it. This has worked for us and he is a much happier boy. No one has asked him why he has his thumb in his mouth nor has teased him about it."

Our leaflet No. 55, "Thumb Sucking," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Famous Essayist Says Farewell to World

PHILADELPHIA. — (AP) — Agnes Repplier, one of the most famous essayists of modern times, died today at her apartment in suburban Overbrook. She was 92.

Most of Miss Repplier's work was in the form of literary papers based on books, but she was also interested in social problems and travelled extensively throughout the country lecturing at many schools and colleges.

Among her more famous works were "The Cat," "Counter Currents," "Points of Friction," "Books and Men" and "The Fireside Sphinx."

"NERVES" She Called It

Losing interest—losing friends—she never went out any more—always too tired. "Nerves," she thought—but it was her kidneys—the filters of her blood—that needed attention. She used Dodd's Kidney Pills at once. The improved action of her kidneys helped to clear away blood impurities and excess acids. Fatigue, backache, headache, lack of energy disappeared. Dodd's Kidney Pills contain essential oils and medicinal ingredients that act directly upon the kidneys—and help restore their normal action. 144

Uncle Wiggily's Bedtime Story

Uncle Wiggily, the rabbit gentleman with the pink, twinkling nose, and Mr. Whitewash, the jolly polar bear, were standing outside the hollow stump bungalow. They were also near the snow block igloo house that Mr. Whitewash always built for himself when he came to visit Uncle Wiggily at Christmas time.

"I wonder where they are," said Uncle Wiggily.

"It certainly is a mystery where they went," said the bear.

Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper, opened the front door of the bungalow. Some snowflakes blew in and Nurse Jane said:

"Burr-r-r-r-r! It's cold and stormy, Uncle Wiggily. Why don't you come into your warm bungalow? It is almost time for you to eat your supper."

"I'll some in as soon as we find them, Nurse Jane," the rabbit gentleman answered.

"It is a mystery where they have gone," said Mr. Whitewash.

"Are you speaking of the rabbit children, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Nurse Jane, "Because if you are, they are all safe in the bungalow eating their suppers."

"No, I was not speaking of my rabbit children," replied Mr. Longears. "I know they are safe for I brought them from Hollow Tree School a little while ago in my auto sled."

"We are looking for those two little elves—those two helpers of Santa Claus—Kris and Kringle," said Mr. Whitewash. "Have you seen them, Nurse Jane?"

"Not since they went to school this morning," answered the muskrat lady housekeeper. "Didn't they come back here in your sled, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Kris and Kringle were in my auto sled when we left Hollow Tree School in the snow storm," replied the rabbit uncle. "But they were not in it when we reached my bungalow."

"Oh, dear me!" squeaked Nurse Jane, "I hope the little dears did not fall out in the snow! You must go right back, Uncle Wiggily, and look for them. You go also, Mr. Whitewash."

"Yes, Wiggy, I think we had better do that," said the bear. "I wonder what happened to those little elves."

Just then, through the storm, was heard again the sound of:

"CAW! CAW! CAW"

"That's Mr. Big Crow," said Uncle Wiggily. "He and the other crows brought gas when my auto sled ran out of it and couldn't go. Ho, Mr. Big Crow," called Uncle Wiggily, "Have you a message for me?"

"Yes, I have," answered Mr. Big Crow. "As I said before, though perhaps you didn't hear me, I can tell you about Kris and Kringle, I know where they are."

"Where are they?" asked Mr. Whitewash.

"They have gone back to Santa Claus at the North Pole," answered Mr. Big Crow as he flew around and around and over the bungalow. "They have gone back to Santa Claus to report to him all about the animal boys and girls in Woodland."

"How do you know this Santa Claus report," Mr. Big Crow?"

"Because, Mr. Longears, I saw Kris and Kringle jump out of your sled just before it reached your bungalow. They jumped into the snow which was so soft you couldn't hear them. Then along came two reindeer of Santa Claus. Kris got on the back of one reindeer. Kringle got on the back of the other reindeer. Then the reindeer flew through the air to Santa Claus at the North Pole. Kris and Kringle called to me that they were going to report about the boys and girls to Santa Claus."

"Oh, I wonder what that report will be like," shouted Uncle Wiggily. "I hope it will be a good report."

I can tell you about that tomorrow if the Christmas stocking doesn't have a hole in the toe so all the candy falls out into the canary bird's cage.

Bulletin Safety Club

EDMONTON BULLETIN SAFETY CLUB

When an airplane takes off you can bet the engines were checked.

When a fighter pilot dons his parachute you can bet he checked it over carefully.

Of course, you say, because a life may be saved.

And that's right because such safety measures are part of the routine learned by experience.

Now it is our experience that boys and girls who go in for strenuous sports have equipment which sometimes wears to the breaking point. Many accidents can be traced to this source.

So take a tip from the pilot who checks his parachute carefully—check your ski harness, your skate straps, your sleighs and sleds and all fast moving equipment.

A new strap now might save a broken leg—yours. A repair to a weak spot on a sleigh might save somebody's neck—maybe yours and perhaps that of some innocent child.

While we are on the subject of sleighs and skis we want to repeat what we said a few days ago.

Grassy Hill, near Connor's Hill, is such a good place for sleighing that hundreds of kiddies use it. Sunday afternoon sees children of all sizes sleighing, ski-ing, tobogganing and just plain sliding on cardboard. Someone is zipping down all the time.

Then they come back up to do it again and this is where a lot of them do not play safe. Too many children use the sleigh tracks on their way up taking a chance on seeing and doging those coming down.

An accident nearly happened yesterday when a skier barely missed a small child. So to you trigger boys and girls we say set a good, safe example on sleigh hills.

And to parents—please impress on the children the importance of climbing hills well clear of the path of other sleigh-riders.

I PLEDGE:
To stop and look before I step
And cross with light on green;
Go to the corner of each road
Just so I may be seen.
To not run out between parked cars
Or play on any street.
"Always Be Careful" is to me
A motto I will keep.

Skating Starts In Hines Creek

HINES CREEK, Dec. 19—The skating season was officially opened last week as a large group of children enjoyed the first of two nights of free skating.

The rink, which was taken over by the Elks this year, is being operated by A. Kuss, caretaker.

The Elks have asked the various organizations of the town for donations of cash to be used to defray the expenses of operating the rink.

A schedule is to be drawn up allocating time for hockey and skating.

Vicalta Latest Name To Add to Well List

By C. V. Myers
Bulletin Oil Editor

Another name was added to the growing list of Edmonton oil companies when Vicalta Petroleums announced a successful well in south Leduc.

Diamond coring between 5,333 and 5,370 showed oil in two porous zones of the D2. Casing will be run and production tested this week.

The well is located in the currently 'hot' south Leduc pool on lsd 8-21-49-26-w4th. Location is slightly over a mile south of the Okalta wells, formerly thought to mark the southern limit of the field.

Vicalta No. 1 was financed by Edmonton and Victoria businessmen. Engineers are Murray, Mitchell and Gray.

CRUDE PRODUCTION

Daily average crude oil production for Alberta during the week ended Dec. 11 was almost 10,000 barrels short of the average set the previous week, according to figures released by the Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board.

The daily average dropped from 93,313 barrels for the week ended Dec. 4 to 83,910 for the week ended Dec. 11, while the number of wells in the province capable of producing, increased by 13 from 1,936 to 1,949 during the same period.

The weekly average, however, is still higher than the average for the same period last year, which amounted to 56,000 barrels.

BIGGEST DROP

Redwater took the biggest drop in production, falling from 46,977 to 39,572. Production at Leduc dropped from 29,643 to 26,116. Largest increase in production was shown at the Stettler field, which jumped from 683 to 1,026.

Daily average production figures for the other fields with the previous week's figures in brackets are: Lloydminster, 2,478 (2,094); Turner Valley, 9,566 (8,910); Campbell, 153 (175); Excelsior, 1,280 (1,696); Golden Spike, 471 (7[illegible]); Joseph Lake, 1,178 (885); Whitemud, 120 (98), and the other fields an estimated 1,951 and 1,446.

BRIDGE

Develop an Even Temper for Bridge

By Oswald Jacoby

Consistently first-class bridge is a matter of temperament as well as of theoretical skill. For example, one of the best players in the country goes to pieces if his partner makes even a trifling error. Since most partners make errors, this expert is a losing player.

Most players collapse when they see a hand full of miserably low cards. True, you have no reason to rejoice when you have a very poor hand; you'll probably lose no matter what you do. Once in a while, however, the player with has a bad hand can strike a telling blow for his side.

West shuddered when his partner bid one no-trump. He expected it to be doubled and set a few million points. He shuddered again when his partner doubled four hearts but relaxed when he passed meekly.

West did not collapse at this point. He thought carefully about the opening lead. With short spades, he might have attacked that suit but it didn't look very productive inasmuch as he held four to the ten. The "automatic" lead of the deuce of clubs also looked pretty sour.

He reasoned that his partner would have doubled one spade for a takeout if his hearts had been long as well as strong. Since East had actually bid one no-trump, his subsequent double of four hearts was surely based on several strength rather than trump strength. In that case, the soundest defence was to get dummy's trumps out in order to reduce the hand to no-trump. Hence West opened the deuce of hearts.

This was a magnificent beginning for the defence. If West had led a club, dummy would win and cash the top spades. Then the singleton diamond would be led from dummy. No matter what East might do, South would make his contract; and it would take a career defence to prevent declarer from making an overtrick.

The trump opening gave the defenders a chance. East took the first trick with the ace of hearts and returned the jack of hearts. South won with the king of hearts and noted with misgiving the fact that now dummy had only one trump.

Declarer next entered dummy with a spade in order to return ruded that South must have seven cral diamonds and that he couldn't ruff them all with dummy's one remaining trump. East therefore boldly and brilliantly played the nine of diamonds instead of grabbing his ace.

South won with the king of diamonds and ruffed a diamond in dummy. To get back to his hand he cashed the black ace and ruffed a spade. This left him with two trumps to East's one trump. But South still had three diamonds and had to give up two diamond tricks to East's ace and jack.

When South took a diamond to East's jack, East returned a club, punching out one of South's trumps. Then South had to give East a diamond trick. East could lead another club, punching out South's last trump. Hence East was left with the last trump, which provided the setting trick.

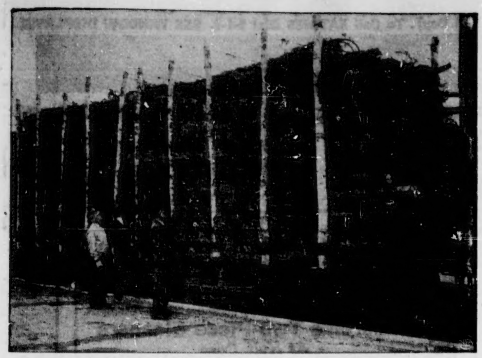
NANCY— By Ernie Bushmiller



IN CASE YOU HAVEN'T caught trend, th is is it: Christmas is coming . . . followed by Christmas trees with all decorations. For visible proof, there's this flatcar load of 100 big evergreens arriving in Chicago for dow ntown Christmas display. And there's more where these came from.

Flood Damage Claims Received

CALGARY, Dec. 19—(CP)—The city has received to date 35 claims for damages in the Dec. 1 Bow River flood and a total of $18,835 has been asked for this far to cover losses incurred when the river flooded some 23 city blocks.

Mayor D. H. MacKay said he intended to bring up the question of the claims at last night's city council meeting and suggest that a special committee be set up to deal with all the damage claims, and consider what the city might do.

Two Crops Estimated

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP)—The United States Agriculture Department, in its final report of the year, yesterday estimated this year's corn crop at 3,131,009,000 bushels and wheat at 1,026,755,000 bushels.

General Motors Appeals Price Fixing On Autos

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(UP)—The government studied today a demand by General Motors for modification of the order rolling automobile prices back to their Dec. 1 level.

GM, the world's largest automaker, announced yesterday it will hold up sales of 1951 Chevrolets, Pontiacs and Cadillacs until the economic stabilization agency reconsiders the action.

Economic Stabilizer Alan Valentine and Price Administrator Michael V. Disalle received GM's demand last night. They made no comment except to say they will study the proposal.

ESA ordered the rollback several hours after President Truman declared a state of national emergency Saturday. It served as a severe reprimand to GM and three other automakers — Ford, Chrysler and Nash—which also had ignored government requests not to boost prices during the current period of international tension.

GM advised it will propose a change in the order, but there was no immediate indication of the company's plan.

ESA spokesmen pointed out, however, that GM or any other manufacturer has the right to appeal price rollbacks and demand a hearing to justify its price boosts.

Ford, the only other automaker to comment on the order, announced it would comply.

Chill Winds Greet Pats In Korea

By BILL BOSS

PUSAN, Korea, Dec. 19—(CP)—Bone-chilling winds whipped today across an islet off the South Korean coast where Canada's first combat ground troops in the fight against Communism were bivouacked under canvas.

The 2nd battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, marched directly to the little island after disembarking earlier in the day from the troopship which had brought them from Seattle. The cold weather of this southeast coast port was a drastic change from the warmth which the troops enjoyed for much of the voyage.

From the pier, where the Patricias were given a perfunctory welcome by Pusan's army authorities —the grim position of the United Nations forces in the north precluded extensive ceremonies—the youthful Canadians were taken to their tented quarters on the nearby island. The men are to sleep under canvas, 18 to a tent. Two schoolhouses will be used as regimental headquarters, kitchens and messes.

SEE MOVE NORTH

Whether the tent city will be the battalion's permanent quarters while they undergo final field training for action could not be determined immediately. The impression spread today among the men that the accommodation would be temporary, and many felt that the unit soon would be headed north.

The battalion commander, Lt.-Col. J. M. Stone of Salmon Arm, B.C., is to confer with Lt.-Gen. Walton Walker, commander of the United States Eighth Army in northwest Korea, later this week on the status of the Canadian troops. The conference will determine whether the Patricias will remain in this rear area to train, or move on.

Half-way House

between Aluminum Ingot and You

With an axe and a few other hand tools, our ancestors could chop down trees and make houses, chairs, bowls, canoes — lots of things. But all these were heavy and had many other disadvantages. It's different now that we have aluminum — which is light, rustless, won't burn, doesn't rot . . . is practically everlasting.

It takes a whole series of unusual and complicated "tools" to make things of aluminum. To start with, it takes ships to import the ore, ports for unloading, powerhouses for electricity, smelters . . . all these to produce the aluminum itself, still only in ingot form.

Next, it takes a plant like the Alcan one at Kingston to receive these ingots from the smelters and to shape the metal into tubes, sheets, extrusions, forgings and foil. Finally, it takes more than 1000 Canadian manufacturers to form all these into chairs, kitchen utensils, building materials, aeroplanes, etc. — things Canadians use every day.

So, you see, this Kingston plant is "half-way" house between ingot and finished article, between the original aluminum and you. It is a link in the chain of "tools" with which, over the last fifty years, Canadians have equipped themselves to make aluminum articles — creating work and wages for thousands, bringing greater convenience and comfort to modern living.
